Serbian church leader: History ignored

Dayton Accord leaves many unanswered questions

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor in Chief

It is with guarded optimism that Metropolitan Christopher, leader of the Serbian Orthodox Church of North America, greets the Dayton Peace Accord. His eminence works and lives in Libertyville at St. Sava Serbian Orthodox Monastery.

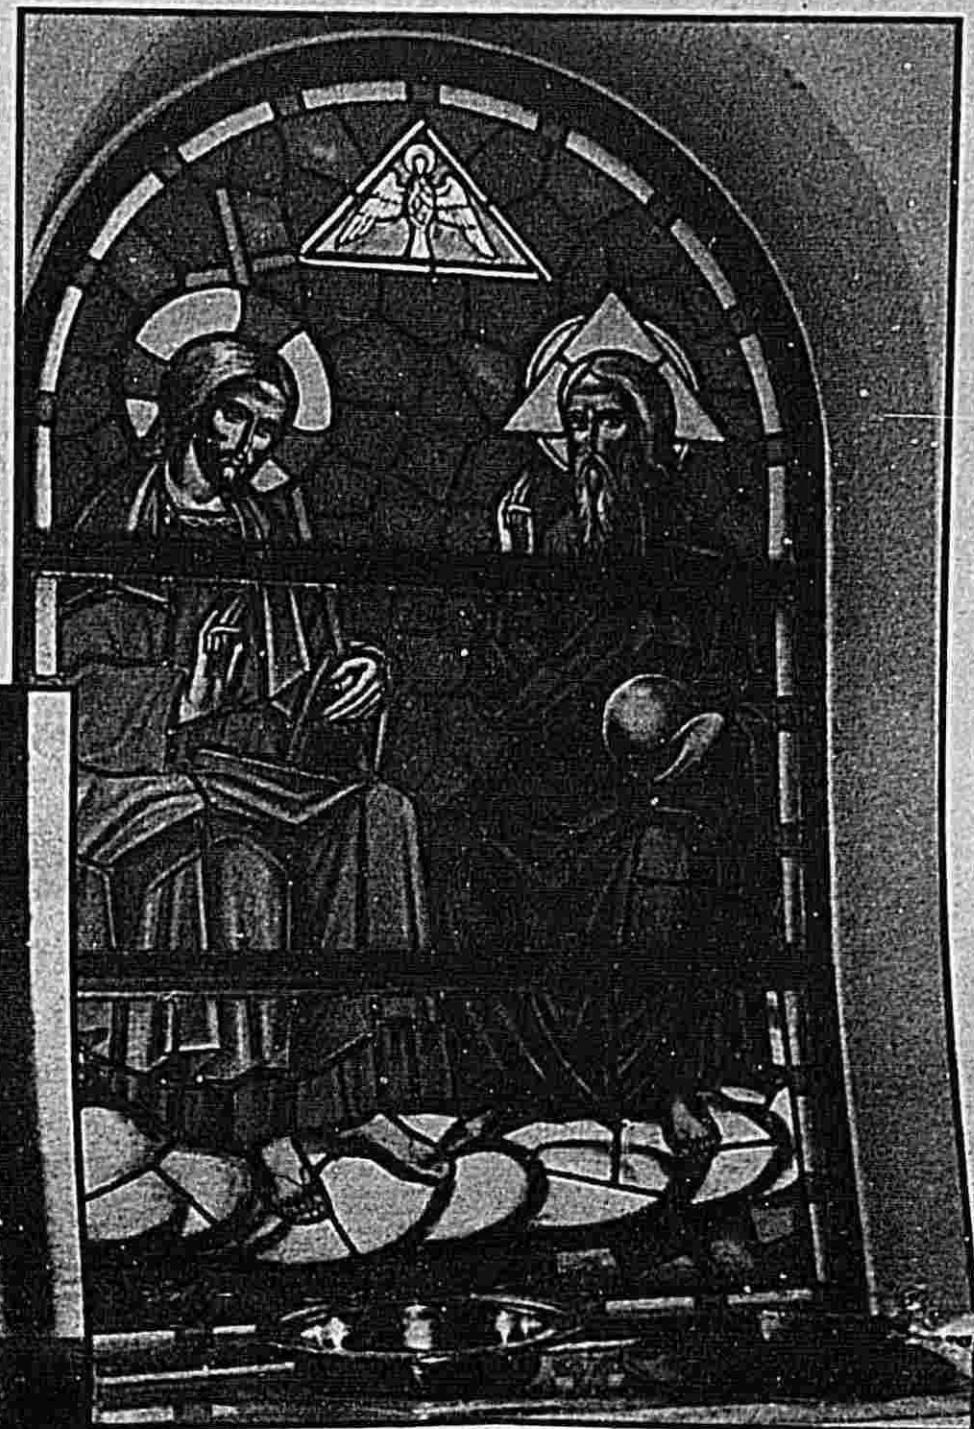

"Throughout the conflict in the former Yugoslavia which began in 1991, the Serbian Orthodox Church, through its Assembly of Bishops, has condemned all the warring parties for the civil war that erupted and the conduct of the fighting. We share the fervent hopes of those who are working to achieve a lasting peace. We pray that the Dayton agreement will, despite some serious flaws, serve as a basis of peace in the region," Christopher said in a letter to President Bill Clinton. The church leader was asked to attend a White House briefing on the Peace Accord and its implementation.

The Dayton agreement divides Bosnia almost equally between the Serbs and Moslem-Croat alliance but guarantees its international borders. Under the accord, Serb-held suburbs of Sarajevo will come under Bosnian government control.

Christopher worries about a long-lasting peace in the region and fears that the Dayton accord may bring an end to the violence but does little to address the root of the problems.

"Successfully implementing a peace plan in the Balkans will be difficult enough, but will be made more so if history is ignored," Christopher said.

"Americans are very ignorant of the history of the region and because of that fact do not understand the causes of See HISTORY page B1

In Yuletide spirit, Antioch waives debt from Thebes

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees demonstrated the giving spirit of the holidays by forgiving a $3,000 debt owed by another town which was hit hard by natural disaster.

Two years ago, the small village of Thebes, Ill., which straddles the Mississippi River in southern Illinois, bought a used fire engine for $5,000 and agreed to pay the Antioch Fire Department $1,000 a year for the fire engine.

But natural disaster struck Thebes last year when spring floods and an overflowing Mississippi River submerged the small village.

July 1 target for station

The platform is in and grading has begun at the new commuter train station planned on Depot Street.

Despite reports by Metra officials last week of delaying the start-up date from the spring to late summer or early fall, Antioch officials plan on having the station and parking lot completed by July 1.

"Our target date is July 1," said Village Administrator Tim Wells, who noted that crews have been on site doing grading work.

The new Metra commuter rail line will run on the Wisconsin Central freight tracks from Antioch through Lake County enroute to O'Hare Airport and downtown Chicago.

But Metra officials pushed back the hopeful start-up date from the spring to late summer or early fall. Metra officials also hinted that See STATION page A10

Mike Warren: Antioch's Rose Bowl connection

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

For Antioch Sequoit fans, all eyes will likely be glued to the television New Year's Day as one of Antioch's very own competes in the most celebrated of college bowl games: the Rose Bowl.

Mike Warren, a 1991 graduate of Antioch Community High School, will be playing defensive end for the Northwestern Wildcats in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., just as he did for the Sequoits during the 1989-90 seasons.

In fact, Warren's football roots begin with the Antioch Viking Junior Football program, before he played for the Sequoits.

From the Vikings to the Sequoits to the Northwestern Wildcats and a possible Rose Bowl victory, Warren has ascended to the next level of football prominence.

"That's everybody's dream. I'm sure he's having a blast," said Del Pechauer, Warren's former high school football coach.

Pechauer coached Warren while he developed not only into a fine varsity starter but an All-Conference and All-Academic pick in 1990 as well.

"During his senior year, he really put it all together for us. We See ROSE BOWL page A10

Teddy bears come to rescue for children

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

They are soft, cuddly, and cute—and during emergency situations, they often serve as a best friend for a frightened child.

Edward D. Jones & Company donated 20 Teddy bears to the Antioch Rescue Squad and Fire Department. The stuffed animals are given to children who are involved in an accident or emergency situation.

"We just thought it would be a neat idea to give Teddy bears to kids when they're under duress," said Marc Lubkeman, an investment representative for Edward D. Jones.

Lieutenant Lee Shannon of the Antioch Fire Department noted that the Teddy bears provide psychological relief for young children when their parents are hurt in an accident.

"They work remarkably well to help calm the situation," Shannon said. "It gives them something to focus on in an unfamiliar situation, especially if they're riding in an ambulance."

The Teddy bears have other uses as well. In the case of a child being hurt, many times young children have difficulty verbally describing where they are experiencing pain.

"They can at least point on the Teddy bear where it hurts them," Shannon said.

Similarly, the Teddy bears relax other language barriers between children and rescue personnel. For example, an Hispanic child may not understand the paramedic. But, again, the child can point to the Teddy bear, Shannon said.

"It's a soothing instrument to let children know we are not the enemy," Shannon said.

Shannon and Rescue Squad Chief Tim Osmond gladly accepted the box of Teddy bears from Lubkeman.

"They will help make our jobs easier," Shannon said.

He said the case of 20 bears could all be used up in one emergency call or it might take a couple of months to use them all.

"We don't know what the future has in store for us," Shannon said.

Lubkeman said his office could purchase more of the stuffed animals if need be.

"If they need some more, I can work that out," Lubkeman said.

Recycling starts to pay for Antioch

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Recycling efforts in Antioch not only pay environmental dividends, but they pay cash dividends as well.

For the first time since beginning the curbside recycling program, the Village of Antioch received a check from Waste Management of Illinois for selling processed recyclable material.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug reported to trustees that the village received a $3,299.15 check from Waste Management. The check was a direct result of Waste Management selling recycled material gathered from Antioch recycling bins.

Waste Management reprocesses recyclables to be sold on the market. After covering its costs, Waste Management shares the profit with the village.

"That's what this village has earned from its recycling efforts," Shineflug said. For July and August, Waste Management combined a rebate of $1,557.38 and a rebate of $1,741.78 for a total of $3,299.15.

Village Administrator Tim Wells noted, however, that the demand for recyclable products vary. For example, Wells said the going rate for paper was $26 per ton in July and $17 per ton in August, but in November the rate for paper fell to $4 per ton.

"Don't expect a check like this all the time," Wells said.

Shineflug added, "One thing to do is to encourage people to purchase products that contain recycled material. That keeps the demand loop going."

Shineflug also reported that the percentage of residents participating in the program increased from 70 percent to 77 percent from July to August. More than 1,790 homes are serviced weekly.

When Antioch renewed a four-year contract with Waste Management for curbside recycling in 1994, services expanded to include magazines, corrugated cardboard, junk mail (excluding envelopes), phone books, Styrofoam, and various types of plastics such as milk cartons and detergent bottles.

The current cost for residents is $12.16 per month for a 65-gallon recycling bin or $13.68 per month for a 90-gallon bin.

Shineflug said a franchise contract with Waste Management was necessary to guarantee curbside service for all residents. Before 1991, residents had to drop-off their material themselves or contract a disposal service to pick-up recyclable material at a higher cost.

"It was the only way we could get curbside recycling for all residents," Shineflug later said.

She said the check the village received will be deposited in the village's general fund which will offset the costs of other village services such as brush and Christmas tree pick-up.

Waste Management will pick-up Christmas trees on the first two scheduled garbage days in January. After that, Shineflug said the public works department will pick-up discarded Christmas trees.

"It (recycling rebate) will help defray the costs of public works picking up Christmas trees and other brush during the year," Shineflug said.

The village mulches all discarded brush and Christmas trees. Mulch can be picked up near Hiram Buttrick Sawmill Park.

Chamber elects new officers

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors voted for the new officers to lead the board.

New officers include:

- President, Ed Cimaglio of Distinctive Signs;
- First Vice President, Barbara Porch of Choosey Child;
- Second Vice President, Dee Dee Palmer of the State Bank of the Lakes;

- Treasurer, Larry Mondie of Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream;
- Secretary, Colleen Osmond of Osmond Insurance.

Outgoing officers include President Robert Mueller and Vice President Karen Dunham. Board member John McNeill.

New members of the board of directors elected earlier this month include Osmond, Larry Hanson of BJ's Fashions for Men, and Marc Lubkeman of Edward D. Jones & Co. investments.

Elections are held yearly to fill three seats on the nine-member board of directors.

An installation dinner will be held Jan. 27 to honor the outgoing board members and to introduce the new board members.

The installation dinner will be held at Waterfalls Restaurant. Cocktails will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner. There will be entertainment and dancing. Tickets are $35. For more information, call 395-2233.

Martini says charges of precinct takeover false

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Lake County board member Judy Martini of Antioch said charges of her stacking Republican candidates for precinct committeeman are false and misleading.

A political gossip column in the Chicago Tribune reported that Martini had been seeking her own slate of Republican candidates to challenge incumbents running for precinct committeeman. The article quoted unnamed party workers and failed to yield a response from Martini.

The article also claimed that Martini promised not to encourage any challengers to run against incumbents as long as she would face no opposition in her precinct for the March primary.

Martini said that promise was never made.

"At no point in time was there ever any dialogue with Republican leaders... that I be allowed to run unopposed," said Martini, who was honored last year for being the No. 2 worker in getting the Republican vote out in Antioch Township.

Precinct committeemen generally are known for being the "foot soldiers" of the party. They campaign door-to-door and submit literature for candidates running for higher office.

Martini said the closest thing to a promise she made was to help field candidates for two vacant precincts which featured no incumbents shortly before the filing date Dec. 18. She found candidates for precincts No. 7 and No. 8. Two candidates eventually filed in precinct No. 8.

Albeit unusual, there are nine contested races for Republican committeemen out of the 15 precincts in Antioch Township. A closer analysis of the contested races, however, suggests that only three (precincts 2, 9 and 13) incumbent committeemen face challengers. The remaining contested races are newcomers facing no incumbents.

Contrary to the claims in the Tribune article, the two precincts Martini helped field candidates do not include the three contested races where incumbents face challengers.

Roy Sackschewsky, chairman of the Alliance for Better Government, said his organization sought out 13 candidates for the spring primaries. Of these 13, three are incumbents, seven are running in precincts with no incumbent and three are challenging incumbents. "It shows signs of a healthy political system and Republican Party when local residents are willing to participate in the political system," Sackschewsky said.

Martini agreed that the influx of candidates for Republican committeemen seems to indicate a growing interest to get involved in the political process at the local level.

"The party welcomes workers," Martini said. "People should be allowed to run for office, not discouraged from it."

Sackschewsky said the Alliance became involved in seeking candidates during the 1994 primaries to increase the involvement of local residents amidst the powerful machinery of political "insiders."

"In 1994, the challenge to the insiders came in response to their lack of will to listen and support the residents of Antioch Township," Sackschewsky said. "It became apparent to us that their agenda followed the wishes of the County Board Chairman and a few chosen insiders even when it was in direct opposition to residents of Antioch Township."

ACHS community decks the halls

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Students came dressed for the occasion as Antioch Community High School students, teachers, faculty, parents, and community members celebrated an open day of camaraderie and appreciation for one another.

Holiday spirit spilled through the halls of ACHS on the last day of school before winter break.

With trumpet in hand, Band Instructor John Olisar was found leading a band of carolers throughout the school.

Santa's reindeer, aka teachers Debbie Rummel and Carla Thompson, were found prancing through the halls with antlers on and all.

Students were given a choice of afternoon activities. They could choose to go to the gym for a dance and a DJ, go to the auditorium for a movie showing of "National Lampoon's Christmas Antioch High School Principal Susan Mullendore and Superintendent Dennis Hockney planned special, fun activities for students the day before Christmas break.

Vacation," or go to the commons to visit with friends.

One of the highlights of the afternoon was a "candlelight" turkey dinner prepared by the cafeteria staff who also added to the holiday atmosphere by adding festive tablecloths and window decorations.

"It was just a really special day and we just wanted to send a message to the students and say thank you for their support over the last couple months," said Superintendent Dennis Hockney.

The "special day" was the brainchild of Principal Susan Mullendore. Both Hockney and Mullendore came aboard together last summer to begin 1995-96 school year and lead the administration under their leadership.

"We definitely raised expectations this year, and the students stepped up to those expectations," Mullendore said. "This is to show them that they've done very well, so enjoy this holiday treat. We value you."

Mullendore and Hockney also praised the efforts and support of parents and community volunteers who lent a helping hand and shared the holiday spirit in the daylong event.

"We had a lot of parents in the building," Hockney said. "It was really nice to see parents and volunteers in the community interacting with the students."

Mullendore added, "It was an opportunity for parents to see their kids in action firsthand."

Insiders have also hinted that students did not mind giving up their trendy flannels for the chance to deck ties and dresses. Some students, insiders said, suggested dressing up on a regular basis.

Businesses help ACHS gather ski, skating gear

Upon recent pleas about Antioch Community High School's need for cross-country ski equipment and ice skates that are in good condition, some local businesses offered their facilities as drop-off points for people wishing to donate equipment.

The school's Physical Education Department, under the direction of Steve Wapon, is hoping to offer instruction in cross country skiing and ice skating.

"Cross-country skiing and ice skating are activities which will provide life-long health and wellness activities to students and something they will enjoy for the rest of their lives," Wapon said.

Drop-off locations include:

- Antioch Community High School, Main Street, Antioch;
- Antioch True Value, Orchard Street, Antioch;
- First National Bank of Antioch, Lake Street, Antioch;
- Lindenhurst True Value, Grand Avenue, Lindenhurst;
- State Bank of the Lakes, Lake Street, Antioch;
- State Bank of the Lakes, Grand Avenue, Lindenhurst.

Monetary donations, which will be used to purchase equipment, are also acceptable and may be made by sending a check payable to Antioch Community High School.

Views On Dental Health

WORN TEETH

Through years of use, the teeth are likely to become worn and shortened, changing the relationship between the jaws. This can result in pain and problems. Wear includes attrition, abrasion, and erosion.

Attrition - Decades of chewing wear down the biting surfaces of the teeth. Sometimes the enamel is completely worn away. This process is hastened by the destructive habit of grinding the teeth. In severe instances the face may lose some of its height, which can change the facial appearance, make you look older and cause pain in the joint.

that covers the roots. It is more prevalent on tooth roots that are exposed by receding gums and is caused mainly by overly forceful brushing, although other conditions and a variety of habits contribute.

Erosion - Acids in the mouth may etch away parts of the tooth surfaces. Erosion is likelier to occur if the mouth is dry. It is also associated with habitually sucking on acidic foods, such as lemon drops.

Police Beat

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

LINDENHURST

Arrested for battery

Steven Wallsaf, 34, 1913 Hazelwood, Lindenhurst, on Dec. 20, was arrested for battery. According to police reports he allegedly pushed the victim's head into a wall causing the victim to bleed.

Arrested for DUI

Craig Macavoy, 25 Clayton, Lake Villa, on Dec. 20, was arrested for driving under the influence. He was stopped for improper lane usage. He had a blood alcohol level of .20.

Don't take the flag

A resident on the 2300 block of Valley Drive reported a Packer flag was stolen from his flagpole on Dec. 20. The rope appeared to have been cut.

Arrested for driving offenses

Sagary Gallu, 18, of Zion, on Dec. 21 was arrested for driving with a suspended license and no registered plates. The officer was helping him and found him to have a suspended license.

Jorge Avardo, 25, of Chicago, on Dec. 21, was arrested for no valid drivers license and speeding. The officer stopped him after he was clocked driving 49 mph in a 35 mph zone. He was found to have no valid drivers license.

Gerardo Velasquez, 24, of Waukegan, on Dec. 20, was arrested for driving with a suspended license. He was stopped for having a loud muffler and was found to have a suspended license.

John Kelly, 34, 38773 Kenmore, Antioch, on Dec. 20, was arrested for no valid drivers license. He was stopped for driving fast and was found to have an expired drivers license.

ANTIOCH

Speeder wanted by sheriff

On Dec. 20, Antioch police stopped Joseph Bruno, 28, of Fox Lake, for speeding after he was clocked doing 52 mph in a 40 mph zone on Route 173. After further investigation, police learned the Lake County Sheriff's Department had an active warrant for Bruno for a deceptive practice charge. Police charged him with speeding, a defective windshield, driving while suspended, and operating an uninsured motor vehicle. He was released to the sheriff's department for the outstanding warrant. Bruno posted $500 bond and will appear in Waukegan court Jan. 5 for the warrant charge. He also posted $100 bond and will appear in Grayslake court Jan. 24 for the vehicle violations.

Motorist found with pot

Police arrested David Baranov, 20, of Antioch, on Dec. 20 for a number of violations. According to police, he was stopped for traveling 63 mph in a 40 mph zone on Route 173. Upon further investigation, police learned Baranov's driver's license was suspended. After a body search at the police station, police found a plastic baggy filled with what police believed was cannabis in his jacket pocket. Police also found a "roach" cigarette in a pack of cigarettes. Baranov was charged with speeding, driving while license suspended, operating a vehicle with suspended registration and possession of cannabis. He was released on bond and will appear in Grayslake court Jan. 24.

Driver crosses centerline

Police arrested Marion Moser, 25, of Round Lake Beach, on Dec. 20 after he crossed the centerline on Depot Street. Although he refused a breathalyzer tester, police charged Moser with improper lane usage and driving under the influence. He will appear in Waukegan court Jan. 16.

GRAYSLAKE

Driving under the influence

Brian A. Meyer, 31, of Round Lake Beach, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol, on Dec. 21 at 2:25 a.m.

Carlos Diaz, 34, of Round Lake Beach, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, and disobeying a stop sign, on Dec. 24 at 2:09 a.m.

Burglary forcible entry

On Dec. 21, it was reported that three construction trailers at the Condell medical building construction site, on Route 120, were broken into and damaged. A $500 cable cutter valued at $500 was removed.

Disorderly conduct

Eric A. Stoneberg, 30, of Grayslake was arrested for disorderly conduct, and Tamara L. Wright 28, of Libertyville, was arrested and charged with battery and disorderly conduct.

Police responded to several 911 hang up calls, at 17 W. School Street. Upon arrival, a large group of people were gathered outside. Apparently Wright struck Stoneberg, her former boyfriend in the face, outside the home where a party was being held.

Dog perishes in garage fire

Fire Department responds to three Christmas fires

A dog died and two more dogs were taken to the Antioch Animal Hospital to be treated for injuries after a fire broke out in a garage at 42151 North Lake Street in Antioch.

The Antioch Fire Department responded to the Dec. 20 call at 12:57 p.m. and had the fire under control within an hour, fire officials said.

The fire raged through a three-car garage, causing an estimated $25,000 in damage. The garage fire damaged many antiques, fire officials said. Reports noted that cause of the fire was an unattended space heater in the garage. The Lake Villa and Fox Lake fire departments also assisted with the fire.

Fire officials also reported that a dog perished in the fire, while two more suffered some minor injuries. No people were hurt in the fire.

On Dec. 21, the Antioch Fire Department assisted the Bristol, Wis., Fire Department at a house fire just north of the state line on Route 45 and North Avenue in Wisconsin.

Fire officials said nobody was home during the house fire. Other details were unavailable.

On Christmas, the Antioch Fire Department was called to assist in three separate fires.

After the Lake Villa Fire Department extinguished a fire at an office building at 207 Park Avenue in Lake Villa, the Antioch Fire Department was called to the scene.

"We were called out to help out with the investigation," an Antioch fire official said.

Later on Christmas, the Antioch Fire Department was asked to stand by the Wilmot Fire Department while Wilmot firefighters responded to a house fire.

Also on Christmas, the Antioch Fire Department assisted the Trevor, Wis., Fire Department with a small fire at St. Benedictine Abbey in Trevor, Wis.

Antioch fire officials said an electrical failure caused a dehumidifier to spark a fire in the sacristy of the church.

"There was minor fire damage, but there was a lot of smoke that caused some damage," an Antioch fire official said.

Despite the fires, the wreath at the Antioch Fire Department still remains decorated with red lights. As part of the "Keep the Wreath Red Program," a red light is changed to a white light to signify a holiday-related fire.

"Our wreath is still full of red lights," an Antioch Fire Department spokesperson said. "None of the fires were related to Christmas decorations."—by

Bank robber caught on camera

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Federal Bureau of Investigation officials said a surveillance camera at First of America Bank in Vernon Hills produced the best photo to date of the likely "serial" bank robber responsible for seven bank robberies.

According to the FBI, a man brandishing a handgun handed a paper bag to a teller at First of America Bank, 2 Phillip Road in Vernon Hills, and said he was robbing the bank.

He directed the teller to put money into the paper bag. After receiving an undetermined amount of money in the bag, the robber fled the bank on foot.

A surveillance camera at the bank filmed the robber waiting for money to be placed into the paper bag.

"It's better than we normally get," said FBI spokesman Bob Long of the photograph, which clearly depicts the face of the robber.

Long said the photo may not help a person unfamiliar with the subject identify the individual, but Long said people who know the subject personally should be able to recognize the photograph.

"If you know him, it's a fairly clear photo," Long said. "Investigations with the Vernon Hills Police Department are continuing, but we have not been able to identify the subject."

Described as a "serial" bank robber by the FBI, the same subject is believed to be responsible for armed robberies in Schaumburg, Oak Brook Terrace, Deerfield, Palatine, and Lake Zurich.

"We've gone back to several banks, and they have said this looks like the guy who robbed their banks," Long said.

Long said anyone with information in regard to the subject is encouraged to call the FBI at (312) 431-1333.

An answer to the New Year resolution blues

Well, folks, if you happen to be reading this column on Friday, Dec. 29, then you had better read fast so you can take time to sit and ponder what your New Year's Resolution is going to be.

Now let's put some thought into it this year and quit relying on the old stand-bys of "I'm going to quit smoking, start eating better, or get more organized in my life." I can tell you right now, people—it ain't gonna happen! It's a plan that is doomed to fail and never, ever start to redeem yourself on New Year's Day.

Let's be realistic here, this is the day after a night of major celebration and jubilation and nothing earth-shattering or life changing should be attempted. Although the pounding headache may alleviate any craving for a smoke and the queasy belly may deter any form of solid food from crossing your parched lips—the timing isn't appropriate.

So my theory for a New Year's Resolution is to start no sooner than Jan. 2, go easy on yourself and only consider a resolution that you are certain you can achieve; thus resulting in less guilt to carry around the remainder of the year.

If you choose the "eating better" theory, then it may be something as simple as ordering french fries without salt the next time you frequent your local fast food eating establishment.

That's attainable, the key here is order. You order them without salt, but it wasn't stated anywhere that you had to actually consume them without salt! So once you get to the table—pour away, remember go easy on yourself and take one step at a time.

After six months, try actually tasting one without salt and gradually work your way up to eating the entire container without salt! So, once you get to the table, pour away. Remember, go easy on yourself and take one step at a time.

After six months, try actually tasting one without salt and gradually work your way up to eating the entire container without salt. This may take until the year 3001, but I have found dousing them in ketchup sure makes up for some of the salty flavor craving.

As for the "quit smoking" resolution, well, how about vowing not to take your first puff in the

morning before your eyes are actually open and focusing on their own. Then work your way up, slowly, of course, waiting until you are sitting in an upright position before lighting up.

Then we reach the final ultimatum—put the sticks of your choice, along with the lighter, across the room so you have to actually place yourself in a horizontal state before experiencing your morning butt. Waiting until the cough that racks your body subsides is totally optional.

As a last ditch effort, you can wait until your morning drive to work, then you simply light a cigarette, lay it in the ashtray, wait until the car is nice and smoky, then inhale deeply—hey, you aren't actually puffing away yourself—besides, your resolution stated nothing about second-hand smoke.

Now about the ever popular "getting more organization in my life" routine: simply clean out the shelves on the door inside your refrigerator. Throw out all those old bottles of salad dressing, mustard, and pickles that have accumulated since before the stone age—we all have those nasty, unused little bottles that haunt us every time we open the refrigerator door.

Then, when you feel real adventurous and want to feel good about yourself, delve into the vegetable drawer and dispose of those wilted carrots and fuzzy green lemons. Build from there—next month don't asbestos-removing garb and attack the shelves.

Then, finally, the main goal is to reach into the freezer and destroy all those little bits and pieces you have been saving up over the years to make soup. (One suggestion here—don't attempt to make the soup, the warm and cozy feeling you built up in yourself cleaning out the freezer will quickly dissipate once the family tastes the soup.)

So, you see, folks, with a little ingenuity and creativity, you can sidestep around almost any resolution without feeling guilty. Go slow, pace yourself, Rome wasn't built in a day. Don't set yourself up for defeat. You don't have to strive for the unattainable this year, start small and build on it. If you fail miserably, don't beat yourself up over it, just remember that 99 percent of the world has failed just as miserably.

That in itself is a comfort, in fact, maybe that should be your New Year's Resolution: strive for the extreme and fail like the rest of the nation's population—that's easily attainable. Happy New Year! And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"—don't forget to call 395-6364.

Winter driving safety tips offered

Snowstorms in Illinois have resulted in slippery driving conditions in many areas of the state. Winter weather means it's time for motorists to re-learn techniques imperative to driving on ice and snow. The following tips have been offered by the office of Secretary of State George Ryan:

- For stopping on ice, if your car doesn't have anti-lock brakes, apply the brakes firmly to a point just short of lock-up, and then ease off the brake pedal slightly. Applying steady pressure is better than pumping the brakes.

According to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club, if your car has an anti-lock braking system, press firmly on the brake pedal. Do not pump the pedal or remove your foot from the brake. You will feel the brake pedal pulse back against your foot.

- If your vehicle begins to skid, ease off the accelerator but do not hit the brakes. Carefully steer in the direction you want the car to go and straighten the wheel as soon as the car begins to go in the desired direction.

- To keep windshields from fogging, start your car and turn the heater on for a minute or two before using the defroster. This prevents moisture from fogging the windshield.

To avoid accidents, anticipate potential dangers such as ice on bridges, snow-covered lane markings, stalled cars and poor visibility. Adjust speed, increase following distance or change lanes to avoid trouble. Drive defensively and watch for drivers who may be unprepared for changing road conditions.

Animal Protection seeks volunteers

The Animal Protection Assn. of Lake County is in need of help. This is a self supporting organization, which offers low cost neuter-spay programs for all of the Lake County area.

The organization is asking for aluminum cans, volunteers, Stove-Top Stuffing box bottom UPC codes, all battery cards backing, plastic beverage can holders six to 12 packs, Purina Beggin' Strips weight circle, Homeless Homers on Cycle and Ken-L-Ration food and treats. All this will help the organization.

Call Bev Salo, president, for further information or to volunteer at 740-3977.

Tree roundup set

Recycle your holiday tree from Dec. 26 through Jan. 31 by dropping it off at a nearby Lake County Forest Preserve so it can be converted to wood chips for use in Forest Preserve landscaping.

Six forest preserves will accept trees: Van Patten Woods near Wadsworth; Greenbelt near Waukegan and North Chicago; Old School near Libertyville; Ryerson Woods near Deerfield; Half Day near Vernon Hills; and Lakewood near Wauconda.

For more details on the "Holiday Tree Roundup" call 367-6640.

-LETTER TO THE EDITOR-

Metra arrives with blinders

Editor:

It has been three years since passengers rode the Wisconsin Central passenger train north to Antioch.

The trip was a one time, one day safety trip.

The commuter line is expected to begin service in the fall of 1996, serving Lake Villa, Round Lake Beach, Grayslake/Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills, Lincolnshire, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Des Plaines and Antioch at the far north tip of the commute.

The problem is that the railroad tracks cut right through the center of the school campus.

On one side of the tracks are the physical school buildings and on the other side of the tracks are the athletic fields. There is only one way to get from the school building to the athletic fields and gym classes, that is a black top walk path where students must pass. No crossing gates, no walk bridge, no tunnel and no solution. How could there be a solution if those in charge could not visualize a future disaster?

If a walk bridge, tunnel or student crossing gate/guard cannot be completed in time for the 1996 fall start of commuter service then to play it safe the train should stop short of the walk path until a safe solution can be in place.

Safety of the Antioch students should come before a bureaucrat cutting a ribbon this fall

Sequoit Pride extends deadline for raffle

Sequoit Pride, a non-profit organization dedicated to the improvement of Antioch Community High School, announced that it will be extending the deadline for its car raffle fund raiser to April 1, 1996.

According to club spokesperson Ed Koziorowski, the extension was necessary because of lagging ticket prices.

If the ticket sales do not reach the $14,500 goal by April 1, a 50-50 split will be the winning prize in lieu of the car. The remainder of the raffle prizes remain the same.

"The community has been very supportive of our decision," Koziorowski said. "The community has been very supportive of our decision. We appreciate everyone's understanding confident that we will be able to reach our goal..."

Last year, Sequoit Pride was instrumental in donating more than $20,000 to purchase much needed equipment and supplies for Antioch High School.

Formed several years ago, Sequoit Pride membership has grown to more than 245 members from the Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Wadsworth areas.

LCYO offers eight week chamber music festival

The Lake County Youth Orchestras will conduct an eight week Chamber Music Festival for stringed instrument players beginning Jan. 7. Rehearsals will be held on Sunday afternoons at the United Protestant Church in Grayslake on Whitney and Park.

The Lake County Youth Orchestras were formed last year to give young stringed instrument players valuable ensemble experience and performance expertise.

In chamber music, each instrument part is played by only one person. There is no conductor. During this eight week session, participants will learn how to listen to their own part while at the same time listening to all of the other parts in the group. They will learn to communicate to their ensemble partners with various kinds of cues. At the end of the session they will give performances without a conductor to keep them together—just with their own individual listening abilities.

For further information about the Chamber Music Festival, call 604-1031. The fee is $80. Family membership in the LCYO is $25 annually.

President raised taxes too much

Frankly, we never thought the day would come when President Clinton would admit that he raised taxes too much. But, miracles never cease and the President has said just that.

In a recent speech in Houston, President Clinton was discussing his 1993 budget when he volunteered, "Probably there are people in this room still mad at me at that budget because you think I raised your taxes too much. It might surprise you to know that I think I raised them too much, too."

He was referring to his 1993 tax bill—the biggest in the nation's history—which passed by just one vote in both the House and the Senate.

We certainly agree with the President. Two years ago we fought that tax bill.

As a matter of fact, not one Republican in Congress voted for it. And a number of Democrats who did vote for the big tax hike are not very happy these days with the President's disclosure.

Senator Bob Kerry is one. Not only did he lash out at Mr. Clinton for suggesting the tax increase was a mistake, but he also said the President fought attempts to cut spending more deeply. The Nebraska Democrat contended the President was "strangling the confidence" of Democrats in Congress.

Senator Patrick Daniel Moynihan says he was mortified by the announcement. As Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee in 1993, the New York Democrat led the way in the Senate to gain passage of the bill.

Democrat Congresswoman Elizabeth Furse said she is "disappointed that President Clinton wouldn't understand the sacrifice made by new Democrats" in the Congress. The Oregon Democrat added, "I'm particularly angry for my many colleagues who didn't come back."

The presidential admission came at the very time Republicans in Congress were trying to pass legislation to reduce taxes.

GCHS seeks community opinions

ELIZABETH EAKEN

Staff reporter

The Grayslake Community High School administration, school board, and staff, are planning to conduct a phone survey on Jan. 4 to obtain community input, concerning educational and financial issues facing the district.

The survey is part of a self study, being done by the school as a part of the North Central Association (NCA) evaluation. The NCA is the organization responsible for determining whether a school will receive accreditation.

Households throughout the district will be chosen through random sample to participate, and questions will only take a few minutes to answer.

The survey will consist of 10 questions, according to Superintendent Ray Novak.

"Questions will concern school rating, they will be asked to rate the school with a grade A-F, and we will ask their opinion of the subjects being taught," Novak explained.

Schools go through the accreditation process every seven years. Grayslake will be evaluated by NCA state director Jerry Loyet, a professor at the University of Illinois, in November of 1996. Part of the process involves a self evaluation. The survey is a way to gain input prior to the evaluation.

According to Novak, the district is going to be a guinea pig of sorts because they are looking into a way to meld the school improvement process with the NCA.

"We're trying to make the state improvement process, and the NCA, work together instead of duplicating programs," he said. "I suppose we're gutsy taking this on and it will be sort of a leadership role for us."

The survey will involve 368 people and the sample will represent a 95 percent accuracy rating, according to Novak.

If residents would like to give their input and they aren't contacted in the survey they should call the school to give input. After Jan. 1, the new voice mail system will be in operation at the school.

Lindenhurst woman trying for convention

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

A Lindenhurst woman is seeking to do the ultimate act of political junkie—be a delegate at a presidential convention.

Karen Rydberg, vice-chairman of the Lake County Democratic Party, is seeking nomination as a delegate to the 1996 Democratic Convention in Chicago.

"I've always been interested in it (the convention)," Rydberg admits. "I watch as much of it on TV as I can."

Rydberg is precinct committeeman for district 159. She has been a regional director for 10 years.

"The philosophy of the party fits my beliefs. They've always been more concerned with the social welfare type issues," Rydberg said.

While she is interested in national politics, she takes time to serve in her area as well. She is the Emergency Services Disaster Assistance coordinator in Lindenhurst. She was on the Lake Villa Fire Protection Board for nine years and served as board president for three.

"It seems exciting to me. It is always fun to get together with a bunch of Democrats," Rydberg quipped.

Rydberg said she has been around politics all of her life.

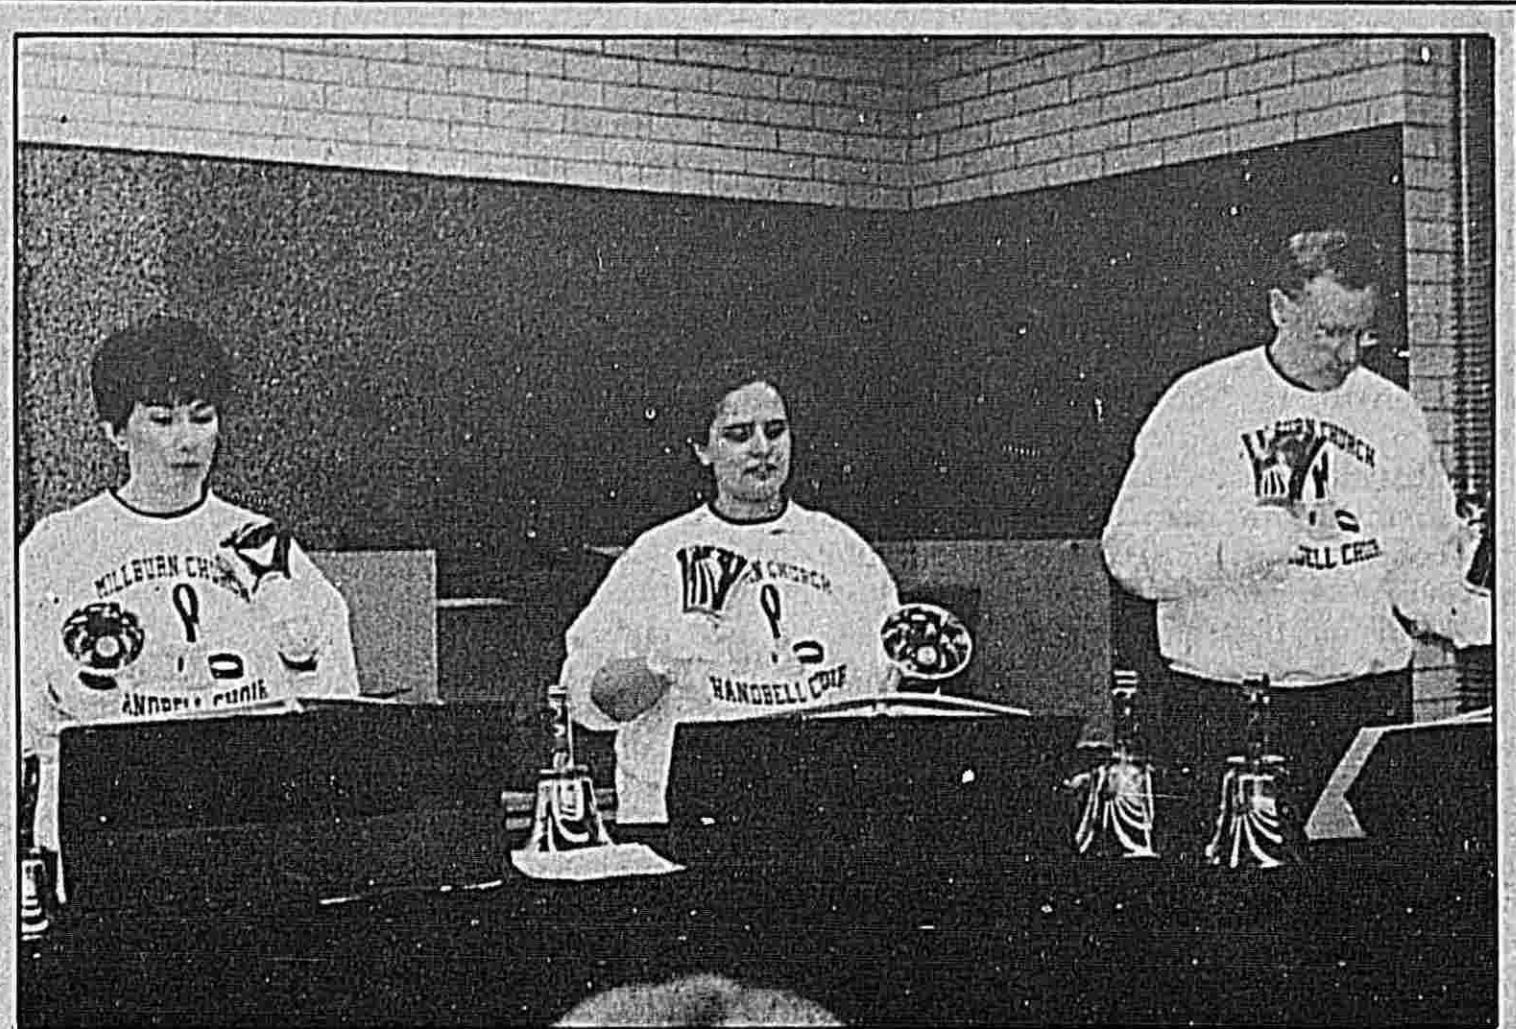

"I was sort of born into it. My father was a committeeman and he would always bring me around when he distributed literature," Rydberg said.

Rydberg is on the ballot with Ron Powell of Mundelein, Vicki McNamara of Arlington Heights and alternate Patrick Boterman of Arlington Heights. The group has to secure 150 signatures.

She is a Bill Clinton fan. Rydberg said she wanted to go in 1984 as a Walter Mondale supporter, but decided against it.

"I was interested this time because the convention is in Chicago. It's not going to cost me a bunch of money," Rydberg said.

She will find out in March if she will be a delegate.

Pace schedules hearings for ADA plan update

Pace, the suburban transportation service, has scheduled public hearings throughout the six-county service region to update the public on its 1996 Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) plan. The public is encouraged to attend the meetings and give their input. The Lake County hearing will be held Thursday, Jan. 4, 1996, at 1:30 p.m. in the Waukegan Public Library auditorium, 128 N. County St., Waukegan.

For more information, call Pace's Passenger Services Office at 364-7223. Those who require special accommodations to attend, such as interpreters or documents in large print, can contact Pace's Legal Department at 228-2365 or Pace's TDD line at 364-5093.

Volunteers needed for exchange program

World Heritage, a non-profit exchange student program, is seeking volunteers in this area to provide students from Germany, France, Spain, Sweden or the former Soviet Union with local program support.

Volunteers coordinate the exchange program with the local community and schools and provide support counseling for participants, as well as screening potential participants for the program locally. Additional duties include attending a full day training workshop and reporting all field activities to the regional office. The ideal candidate should enjoy fostering new international friendships, be community minded, and enjoy working with teenagers and adults. Experience in student exchange is helpful.

Anyone interested in volunteering four to six hours per week, or would like to find out what other opportunities are available, contact Sandy Storer at the World Heritage Office at 1-800-888-9040.

WHIPLASH INJURIES

A common form of whiplash occurs when the head is suddenly flexed forward, then is snapped backwards. This type of injury most commonly occurs in motor vehicle accidents involving a rear or frontal impact producing a sudden acceleration/deceleration movement to the head and neck. Whiplash manifests itself with, but is not limited to the following symptoms: headache, neck stiffness and pain, jaw problems (TMJ disorders). A tingling sensation and pain in the shoulders and arms may be caused by nerve irritation in the neck. The nerve irritation may be a result of a misaligned bone in the neck portion of the spine.

Besides automobile accidents, many other types of accidents can severely stress the structural aspects of the neck with the same results such as a fall (ex. slipping on ice), a blow to the head, being shoved from behind or any movement causing a sudden motion in the neck.

For these reasons, it is important to visit a Chiropractic Office immediately following any neck-injuring accident. A Chiropractor is clinically experienced in treating musculo-skeletal disorders in a non-invasive manner. A Chiropractor will perform an examination and corrective adjustments to the affected structures, if needed to help the body heal any inflammation and eliminate nerve irritation which will avoid serious neck problems at a later date.

Rose Bowl

depended on him to be a defensive leader," Pechauer recalled. "He was a pain for our offense on the practice field."

Just as Warren was catching the attention of Pechauer and prep quarterbacks, Warren also raised a few eyebrows for Northwestern scouts as well.

"I think Northwestern liked him because he was able to cover the whole field side to side. He hustled on every play," Pechauer said.

Pechauer believes Warren's desire to develop his mind was his main reason for attending Northwestern. Warren has designs to pursue a teaching and coaching career, Pechauer said.

Warren signed on with the Wildcats when they were the joke of the Big Ten. In his five-year collegiate career, he has seen Northwestern rise from the cellar to the Big Ten Conference champion, to a No. 3 national ranking and to a bid to claim a Rose Bowl victory.

Although Warren patiently waited five years for the Wildcats to develop into a national Cinderella story, Wildcats fans and players have had to endure an even longer drought as the Wildcats are making their first Rose Bowl visit in 47 years.

"Mike wanted to go to Northwestern even though they weren't winning, and he had the grades to do it," Pechauer said. "Anybody can be an athlete, but you have to hit the books. That's what he had going for him."

Warren gained the national limelight personally during the 35-0 smashing over the Wisconsin Badgers earlier this year. Warren grabbed an interception early in the fourth quarter and lumbered 53 yards on the return, just shy of paydirt.

"We kidded him about his speed on that play," Pechauer said.

Warren was a frequent visitor to Sequoit football pre-game pep talks. He also delivered a speech with former Chicago Bear Emery Moorehead during the annual banquet for the Antioch football squad.

"He's talked to our team quite often and comes to the basketball games," Pechauer said. "He's gone out of his way for us." The next time Warren visits the school or football team, he will be reflecting on his experience being in the Rose Bowl on national television.

Game time is Monday at 4 p.m. as the Northwestern Wildcats square off against the University of Southern California Trojans.

"It means a lot to our program that one of our own has made it in the Big Ten and to the Rose Bowl," Pechauer said. "Wow!"

Station

limited ridership may be possible by August.

Whatever the case, Wells said the village intends to have its station completed by July 1.

"We should be on board by that date," Wells said. "It will play well into the timelines they are working on."

Wells also noted that work on the parking lot has been pushed back until March 1. Construction bids on the depot itself was also delayed until late winter or early spring, Wells said.

"If we didn't have the (Metra) delays, we would have had the bids," Wells said. "Because of the delays, we thought it would be better to hold off on the bids."

The parking lot is designed for 68 parking spaces which can be expanded to 179 spaces in the future. Wells said if more parking is needed, parking would be available at Williams Park.

At full development, the train station will have PACE service, landscaping, sidewalks, bike racks and lockers.

Cost for the project is estimated at $500,000, but Wells said the village is expecting more than $100,000 in federal grants for the parking lot. Wells said the village expects to spend between $350,000 to $375,000.

There will be three morning trips from Antioch to Chicago and three evening trips from Chicago to Antioch. There also may be other scattered trips.

The 90-minute commute is expected to make stops in Lake Villa, Round Lake Beach, Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills, Prairie View, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Prospect Heights and Des Plaines.

Some villages, such as Mundelein and Vernon Hills, are experiencing major delays in completing their stations before Metra commuter trains become operational.

Debt

of Thebes perched the fire engine on top of a hill so that it wouldn't be damaged by flooding waters. Although the Thebes village hall was under water, the fire engine was one of the remaining pieces of equipment and structures in the village to escape flood damage.

"That's how much they need that piece of equipment," Foresta said.

Antioch Village Administrator Tim Wells even pointed out that a picture published in the Chicago Tribune depicted the Thebes village hall surrounded by water.

As a result, Wells said the Antioch Fire Department sent Thebes a care package of used helmets, boots, clothing and equipment to assist the fire department during the flood.

In addition, Foresta also said the Thebes Fire Chief wrote a letter to Antioch officials requesting an extension of its $1,000 payment this year.

Antioch trustees took the request one step further by eliminating the remaining $3,000 debt owed to Antioch.

Trustee Dorothy Larsen said, "In keeping with the spirit of the season, we should waive the balance of the payment for the truck."

Wells added, "For them right now, the $3,000 probably seems like $3 million."

GOP candidates race for precinct bids

More than 25 Republican candidates filed for committee-man in 15 precincts in Antioch Township for the March primary.

Precinct committeemen generally are known for being the "foot soldiers" of the party. They campaign door-to-door and submit literature for candidates running for higher office.

Out of the 15 precincts, there are nine contested races in which there are two or more candidates fighting for the position. Three incumbents elected in 1994 face challengers in the 1996 primary. The remaining contested races include newcomer candidates.

Precinct candidates who filed before the Dec. 18 deadline include:

- Antioch 1: Roy Sackschewsky;
- Antioch 2: Ralph Gussarson (incumbent) and Philip Burgdorf;
- Antioch 3: Judith Martini;
- Antioch 4: Sharon Oldenburger and Claudette

Skvarce. Norma Lowe, the incumbent, filed but later withdrew from the race;

• Antioch 5: Jodi Eckert and William Peters;

• Antioch 6: No candidate filed;

• Antioch 7: Joel Filiatreault;

• Antioch 8: Mike Mueller and Philip Bielawski;

• Antioch 9: Jo Ann Osmond (incumbent) and Ardeen Harris;

• Antioch 10: John Tsausis (appointed) and Gerald Zielenski;

• Antioch 11: Thomas Evert;

• Antioch 12: Timothy Siewert, Taso Maravelas, and Kathleen Allen;

• Antioch 13: Leonard Mattson (incumbent) and Sid Parker;

• Antioch 14: Linda Pedersen and James Sheehan;

• Antioch 15: Lillian Golonka.

Order fresh herb plants now for pickup, planting in May

More than 125 kinds of fresh, healthy herb plants for cooking, for fragrance, and for ornamental use, can be ordered now, at reasonable prices, to pick up in May at the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake. The annual herb sale is presented by the Northern Illinois Unit of the Herb Society of America.

For an order form and a list of the plants available with notes on their use and cultivation, send a stamped, self-addressed business-size envelope to Herb Sale, Herb Society of America, P.O. Box 329, Lake Bluff, IL 60044.

Deadline for receiving orders is Feb. 1.

Rams confident positives await in tourney, loop

Despite injuries and a lopsided loss, Grayslake hopes to make progress against some tough competition in Rockford this weekend.

"A little frustrated but looking ahead. I feel we could have picked up a few more victories by now - that is my responsibility," Rams Coach Greg Groth said.

Grayslake brings a 2-7 overall mark, 2-2 Northwest Suburban Conference record in to the Rockford tournament. Rock Island Alleman was the first-round foe Dec. 21.

Groth believes something is missing from the defending NWSC champs, but has not been able to put a finger on it.

"We try to improve each game, but we our out of our rhythm. We have to stop the unforced efforts and get over the hump."

The Rams' injured list grew as Matt Peschke was added last week. He was hurt as the Rams were losing their second league game, a 59-44 defeat at Marian Central. Matt Moran and Luke Kron have also lost playing time due to injury.

Grayslake is averaging 53.8 points but surrendering 62 points a game. The Rams are holding their own on rebounding, averaging 30 a game.

But free-throw shooting has hurt the Rams, as it did in the collapse against the Hurricanes. Grayslake was outscored 17-13 at the line and shot only 25 percent from the field.

A 17-6 run by the Hurricanes paced by hot shooter Matt Sabatka (26 points) settled the issue.

Brian Witt matched his average with 14 points against the Hurricanes. Luke Kron also has a 14-point average.

The Rams are shooting 37.2 percent from two-point range, 28.3 percent from three-land and only 51.9 percent from the free-throw line. The Rams do have more steals, 60-55 than the opposition, have drawn 15 charge calls and have a 13-rebound edge.

League play resumes Jan. 5 when the Rams host Grant, a team which lost four games at Jacobs.

"If we play smart, we can hang right with them," Groth said.

Antioch, Grayslake meet Grinch at Christmas tournament

The Antioch girls started the McHenry Girls Christmas Basketball Tournament with a bang, but were shot down in the subsequent round.

The Sequoits set a tournament record for the fewest points allowed in a game in their 43-14 drubbing of the Rams.

AHS jumped out to a 13-0 lead immediately and were never in danger of losing the lead, holding a 33-6 lead after three quarters of play.

Good defense was the key to game, with Antioch forcing 31 Grayslake turnovers. Erin O'Connell led the Sequoit charge on offense, tallying 11 points and eight rebounds. Dana Pierson was also in double scoring figures for the Sequoits, chipping in 10 points.

Amy Artelt and sophomore Robyn Boydston led Grayslake with three points each.

Antioch looked to be on its way to another big win in the second round, this time facing defending tourney champs Byron.

After running up a 22-9 halftime lead, however, the Sequoits folded. They missed all eight of their second-half free throw attempts and turned the ballover 13 times as Byron staged a comeback.

AHS was never out of the game. The Sequoits Carrie Gofron drove the length of the court for a lay-up that tied the game with 35 seconds left, but a field goal on the subsequent possession for Byron, and then a steal of the Antioch inbounds pass, snatched away Antioch's hopes of victory.

Pierson was the only Antioch player in double figures, scoring 10 for the Sequoits.

The Rams also stumbled in the second round, dropping a 48-31 decision to Jacobs. Artelt again led the Rams with a 10-point effort.

Krombach leads Carmel High girls in win

A solid basketball game at both ends of the floor was what Carmel High's team was seeking.

And that is just what it achieved as the Corsairs (5-6) downed St. Francis 48-32. The win Tuesday gave the Corsairs a strong start to the St. Viator Snowflake tournament.

"We got back on track," Carmel Coach

Larry Whittier proclaimed.

The offense was led by Colleen Krombach. The senior forward led the way with 24 points, eight in the third period. She also did the job at the other end with six steals.

Carmel battled St. Benedict in the second round on Wednesday. The tourney in Arlington Heights concludes Dec. 29.

Cold shooting makes Antioch sweat out a close loss

The Antioch Sequoits boys basketball team dropped a 55-50 heartbreaker to Elgin St. Edward in a non-conference tilt.

Cold shooting plagued the AHS squad, particularly from long range. The Sequoits made only one of 14 attempts from beyond the three-point stripe.

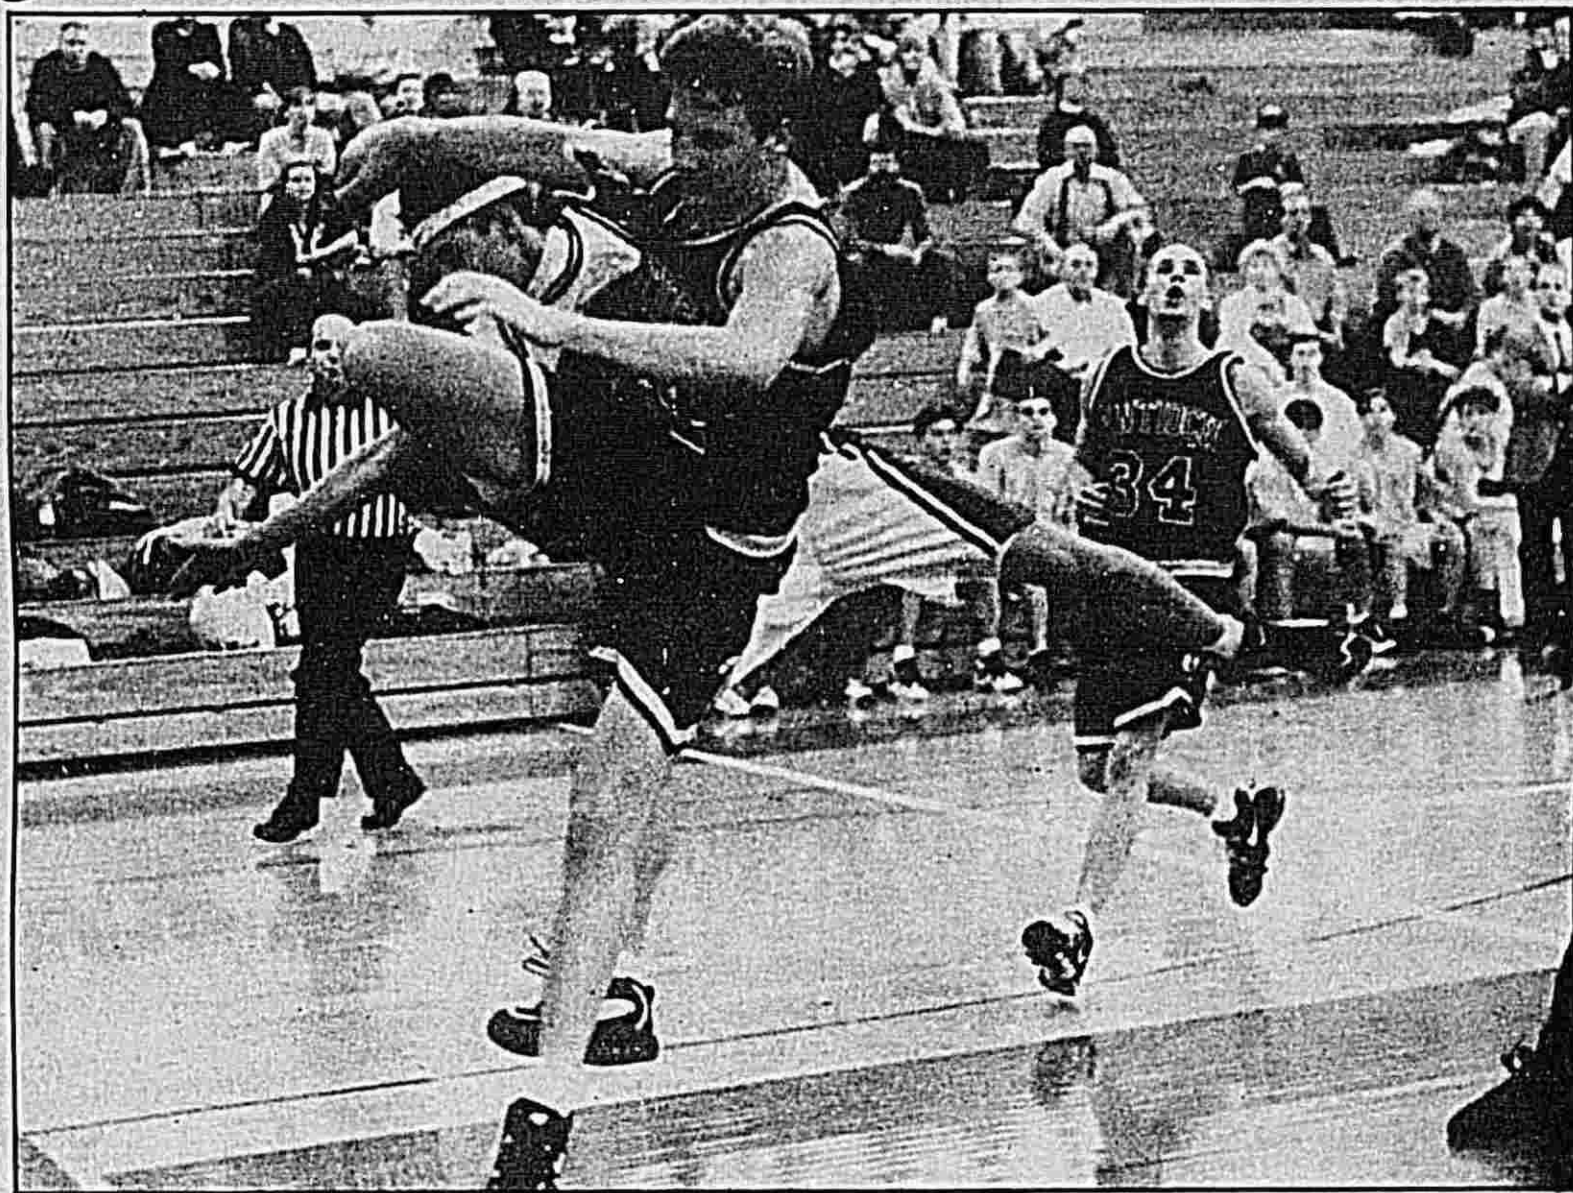

AHS held the lead at halftime, but a furious nine-point run by the Green Wave gave St. Edward a 33-29 lead early in the third stanza.

Antioch fought back in the fourth period, 6-3 senior forward Kevin Eckenstahler in particular. Eckenstahler had eight points and four offensive rebounds in the second half, finishing the game with a team-high 15 points.

Despite the last-ditch effort, however, the Sequoits could not prevail, St. Edwards hanging on for the five-point win.

Kevin Geraghty and Justin McRae both reached double scoring figures for the Sequoits, chipping in with 10 points each. Eckenstahler finished the game with nine boards.

St. Edward's Brad Hartman led all scorers with 19 points.

Wulf's win sparks Grant mat victory over WTHS

A freshman began a run of Grant High wins as the Bulldogs topped Warren in a non-conference wrestling match.

Grant High topped Warren 35-25 to earn its 10th dual meet win of the season.

Frosh Eric Wulf notched a 5-2 win over Andy Burns of Warren at 125 pounds.

"He gave us a lift. We have been really happy with him. He is as tough as they come," Grant Coach Dave Kapraun said.

Wulf broke into the varsity lineup in the match against Grayslake and has been there ever since.

Trey O'Neill won a 17-2 major decision over T. J. Dusek; Wally Reyes of Grant shutout Matt Castro 10-0 and Mike Junge of the Bulldogs stopped Preston Wright on a major decision 15-7.

Mike Ray, rated in the top five in the state at 145 pounds, won in a pin over Jim Congilio in a second period pin in 2:59. "He battled against him and did not back down," Kapraun said.

Brad Helmski returned to the Grant lineup and win 5-0 at 160 pounds over Ryan Cargo.

Warren's Andy Kukla earned a major decision over Adam Butler 14-4 at 171 pounds and Grant forfeited the 189 pound bout.

ning streak at heavyweight as he won in an injury default over Neil Pikulski.

Grant won the first two matches as Ed Michniewicz won at 103 in a pin of Jim Steudle and Tony Nelson won by a major decision over Dave Siwula 12-2 at 112. Shawn Carter earned a pin in 3:22 over Kyle Pack, a Grant freshman at 119.

Both teams are off until conference duals after the break. Warren hosts Lake Forest while Grant hosts Jonsburg Jan. 5.

"It was a nice win for us before the break," Kapraun said of his 10-5 squad.

Wildcats make progress at tourney

The first half of basketball seasons at Libertyville and elsewhere can be describe as a learning-on-the-job situation.

After using other skills such as tackling and kicking for the fall seasons, the Wildcats must gain their "basketball legs" in time for their mid-season drive.

All appears to be on schedule as the Wildcats downed Lake Park 60-43 and Maine West 45-43 at the Wheeling tournament. The Wildcats were the lone area representative in the semifinal round.

"We have three guys who play other sports - Tim Beshel is an all-conference linebacker and Chris Mitchell and Bob Obikowitch play soccer," Sanders said. "We are doing a lot of little things good. Each great team does a lot of little things well."

Libertyville (7-4) won its third in a row by picking up the intensity on defense after the first quarter against Lake Park, owning the rebounds 37-17 and allowing Beshel (21 points, 9 rebounds) and J.R. Jurecko (15 points, 12 rebounds) to show the way. After allowing eight first period baskets, Libertyville surrendered only 10 the remaining three quarters.

"We played well, especially in the second half. We did a better job of switching and helping on defense," Sanders said.

"We did a good job, but we are still not shooting the way I thought we should be," Sanders said.

The Pats had worked on defense after the 78-59 loss to Deerfield and it showed against the Knights. Stevenson dominated overtime 13-7. Stevenson had to overcome a 29-17 rebounding advantage for Propsect for its third win.

Mustangs follow plan, Tigers too much

The game plan was followed pretty well, but the result was just not there for Mundelein High's boys basketball team.

Crystal Lake Central downed the Mustangs 73-62 in the second round of the Jacobs Holiday tournament. Almost half of the Mustangs (1-12) points came from the hot shooting of Kyle McCarthy, who pumped in 34 points.

"I thought we picked it up a little bit. We felt we followed the game plan. We knew we could not defend the outside and the inside against them, so we wanted to make them beat us with the three-point shot," Mundelein Coach Perry Wilhelm said.

The Tigers did just that, making nine as the Mustangs could not defend the trey led by Luke Condill.

Central led just by three points at intermission, but Condill led the Tigers on a 16-4 third period run, including a trey to beat the buzzer.

The Mustangs were missing their second leading scorer and rebounder, Carlos Hernandez, who was out with the flu. Sean Henderson tried to pick up the slack with 11 points.

Mundelein was clicking in the first half, as it had a six-point lead in the second period. But a nine-point swing by Central sent the Tigers ahead to stay.

And then there is McCarthy, the senior who wears a headband. The effort was 12 points better than his average.

"Kyle is a good shooter and it shows," Wilhelm said.

McCarthy had scored 22 points in a 57-55 first round loss to Crystal Lake South. Scott Leuders scored 13 points in the opener against the Gators, but was held to five by the Tigers.

Mundelein cut eight points from a 14-point deficit against Cary-Grove.

Kyle McCarthy led the way with 21 points and Carlos Hernandez, back from a bout with the flu, added 14 and Sean Henderson added 14.

"We missed four lay-ups at very critical times," MHS Coach Perry Wilhelm said.

Hernandez returned to the lineup after a two-game absence.

At 6-1, he is the second tallest and leading rebounder for MHS. "Having him back was a huge difference.

"Kyle show the ball pretty well, but they were paying close attention to him. He still manages to get his points and most of the time we did not try and force it to him," Wilhelm said.

Cary led 16-9 after one period and it got worse for the Mustangs in the second stanza. The lead grew to 29-15 on three straight hoops by Eric Caldwell.

McCarthy and a trey by Hernandez sparked Mundelein on a 10-0 run for a four-point deficit into the fourth period.

A jumper by McCarthy and a baseline shot by Henderson pulled the Mustangs to within two, but Cary answered with a 7-5 spurt.

Two key close-in misses by MHS allowed Cary to then win the game at the free-throw line, making 12 in the final three minutes.

GCHS, RLHS losses still leave hope for future

There were some silver linings in Tuesday night's losses for Grant and Round Lake at the Jacobs boys basketball tournament.

Grant may have found some depth for the future in an 81-63 drubbing at the hands of Jacobs. Cary-Grove and Round Lake battled well into the fourth quarter before Cary emerged with a 66-61 win.

Kirk Johnson came off the bench to score 12 points and led Grant (7-6).

"He is a hustler and has been playing more all the time," Grant Coach Tom Maple said of Johnson.

Johnson is a 6-foot, 3-inch junior forward and can play several spots. He and Dave Fries, a 6-1 junior guard, played well off the bench.

"But the bench players played harder than the starters and that is disappointing," Maple said.

Mike Nelson had 11 points.

Jacobs led by 13 points at halftime. Grant trimmed the lead to eight points in the third period, but a 28-17 Jacobs run settled this one in the fourth.

"We knew from the get-go this would not be our night. On the opening play, we called a play and it did not work out," Maple said.

Mike Allen, Brett White and John Stockwell had 14 points each in the third round loss by Round Lake to Cary-Grove. The game was tied at 59-all, but Round Lake missed some key three-pointers and Cary converted.

"Defense is still the whole problem," Round Lake Coach Ron Sapochak said.

The Panthers closed out the tournament Wednesday against Crystal Lake South.

Grant boys challenge LF in close loss

Gaining some respect for the Northwest Suburban Conference, Grant High took Lake Forest deep into the fourth quarter before the Scouts pulled away for a win.

Lake Forest prevailed 60-54 in the first game of the Jacobs Christmas tournament.

"We just missed some buckets at the end and had some turnovers. We had fine shots and it was a close game," Grant Coach Tom Maple said.

The Bulldogs led 47-45 after three quarters but a change of defenses sent the Scouts to a 15-7 fourth period run. "That took us out of their rhythm," Maple said.

Adam Mooney more than doubled his average for the 7-3 Grant team with 14 points. Mike Nelson and Brian Mikels had 15 each and Jason Loring had eight. Nelson is averaging 17.8 points a game, Mikels is at 14.

"The game was a good measuring stick. We had won five in a row, but wanted to find out if it was due to luck or a soft schedule. This game showed a Northwest Suburban Conference team may give a North Suburban team all it can handle," Maple said.

Ice fishing maps available

An index for the 2,450 Wisconsin mapped lakes is now available. A lake map, or hydrographic chart, is a map showing the various depths of a lake, along with other information such as kind of lake bottom (mud, sand, gravel, etc.).

The index is available at no charge by sending a self-addressed, stamped (52-cents) number 10 business envelope to: Wisconsin Ice Fishing, Box 5096, Madison, WI 53705-0336.

Lineup changes no problem for Stevenson girls squad

A makeshift Stevenson High roster was more than enough to allow some reserves as chance to show their skills against Proviso West.

Stevenson's girls were missing three starters, but romped over the overwhelmed Panthers 76-30. The Pats were without Tauja Catchings, still visiting her sister Tamika in Texas and Christy Miller due to a knee injury and Carolyn Roth.

Katie Coleman scored 27 points in three plus quarters as she totally dominated the game at times. The Purdue University bound star had 19 rebounds and eight assists as SHS bounced back from a loss to Warren and gain a 10-1 record.

"It was a nice opportunity for some of our players to get some work in and play," SHS Coach Frank Mattucci said.

Roth and Catchings were expected for the quarterfinal tilt with tourney host Dundee-Crown on Wednesday. Miller is out for the tourney, expected to be back for the stretch drive in North Suburban Conference play.

"We need to have Miller healthy. Miller is one of the most underrated players in the state.

She is such a great defensive player. You saw how we missed her last Wednesday," Mattucci said, referring to a 42-35 loss to rival Warren.

Jennifer Warkins, who suffered a knee injury which ended her season a week after the Dundee-Crown tourney last year, scored 13 points. Erin Bartlet, gaining her first varsity start, scored 10 points.

"Warkins had her kind of game. She ran the floor nice and had some nice shots," the coach said.

The game itself Tuesday was never in doubt, although Proviso West did manage 10 points in the second period. "I thought we lost focus in the second quarter. We played a lot of people. We are only as good as our last game and our last game was not very good," Mattucci said. "We played for about 24 hard minutes."

Libertyville (4-9) was dropped to the losers bracket with a 67-57 loss to Fenwick. Jenny Arnold led the Wildcats with 15 points and sophomore Katie Karrigan had 11.

Fenwick had a huge lead through three quarters but the Wildcats made it tough with a 20-7 fourth period run.

Scorekeeper's health woes inspire Stevenson girls

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

As if coming to the same gym where he watched his father suffer a fatal heart attack last year was not enough, there were some more emotional burdens for Stevenson High girls basketball Coach Frank Mattucci and his Patriots.

Veteran scorekeeper Willis Wudtke suffered a heart attack in the early morning hours of Christmas and was not at the Dundee-Crown Charger Classic.

"He scored 249 straight games for us, both here and at Luther North. He was a great guy," Mattucci said. "My prayers are with him and we owed it to Willis to play hard."

Willis is always ready with the correct scoring figures and a friendly smile for the media covering the defending state champs.

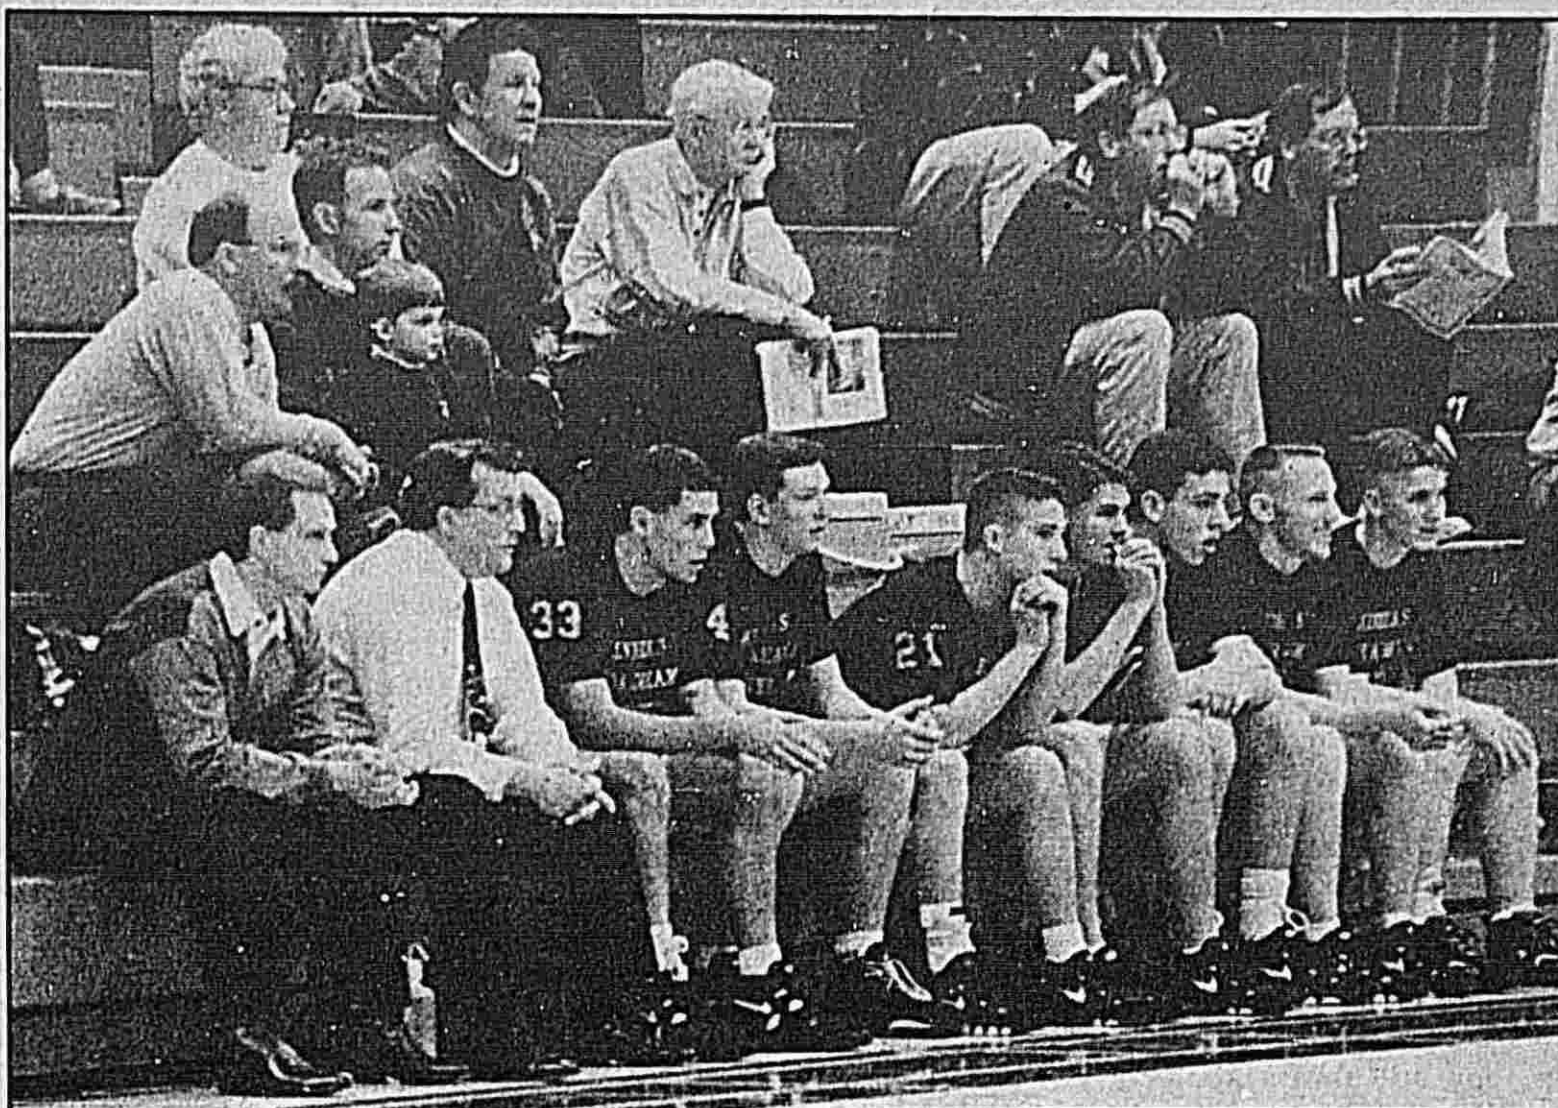

He is recuperating from surgery at St. Francis Hospital in Evanston.

Mattucci recalled how the two met.

"It was the first year at Luther North. I had just gotten the job. He was there to watch a football practice. He congratulated me and I asked him how he knew. He said he followed Luther North sports. He said he had done it from the stands for years and I asked him if he wanted to score officially," Mattucci said.

But if there is one team which majors in overcoming adversity, it is the Stevenson girls.

The Patriots, despite missing three starters, did just that, pasting Proviso West 76-30 in the first round game. The Pats, seeking their third straight tourney title, battled Dundee-Crown in the quarterfinal round Wednesday before the Dec. 28 semifinals and the Dec. 29 finals.

The Pats were declared tourney champs after last year's title game was suspended after Louis Mattucci suffered a heart attack.

He was remembered in this year's tournament program.

Coach Mattucci said it was hard on Tuesday night. "The girls kept me occupied."

Some random thoughts as the miles between Algonquin, Wheeling and Carpentersville began to look familiar last week:

Break up the West.

West division teams had as much as a 41-18 lead (based on quarters won) on the East at the Jacobs Holiday tournament. The round robin tourney divides the 10 teams into two divisions. Unfortunately, area teams Round Lake, Grant and Mundelein were on the East side. Tournament officials report much closer races in the past, but this year, it was two days and done.

Matt Heldemann II??

Deerfield's Ryan Hogan reminds Libertyville coach Max Sanders of his former Wildcat star. "Both players have great energy to get to the ball," Sanders said.

Hogan scored an average 22 points as Deerfield topped LHS 73-64 Tuesday.

Best pizza

The best pizza award continues to be won by Wheeling.

Notable anthem

Cheers!

The longest cheer award goes to Hoffman Estates. They cheer almost constantly at the Jacobs tourney and even louder when one of their favorites scores.

Note of interest

Best way to keep fans interested: the Dundee-Crown Classic wins this honor. A pop-a-shoot is available in the nearby fieldhouse and three-point and free-throw competitions are held at halftime.

Where am I?

The you-won't-notice-the-place-from last-year award: a tie between Dundee-Crown, which made yours truly's favorite side gym a study hall and Jacobs. New commercial activity is abounding in Algonquin and the school, once the only building amidst farm fields, will soon not be able to be seen from the road.

West woes

The prognosis does not look good for a Northwest Suburban Conference team to get a high seed in the Class AA sectional come March. Grant and Round Lake, the co-leaders in the league, both were looking for their first win after three days at Jacobs. After taking Christmas off, Tuesday meant two more losses for the locals.

LHS grapplers take second in Waukegan mat tournament

The Libertyville Wildcats wrestling squad made an impressive showing at the 43rd Annual Ott Bay Memorial Wrestling tournament, winning three championships and taking second overall in the nine-team field.

Hononegah was the only squad to best LHS as a team, racking up 183 points to Libertyville's 146. DeKalb was chasing the Wildcats' tails, tallying 145 team points, but the rest of the field didn't seriously challenge the front-runners. Taking fourth through ninth, in order, were Waukegan, Lake Forest, Batavia, Maine South, Sterling and Elk Grove.

Dan Cysewski took first-place individual honors for LHS, and did it in style. The 125-pounder pinned his Lake Forest foe in the finals, scoring a fall at 1:22 of the first period.

At 145, the Wildcats' Corey Jensen also earned an individual title, but his win was a nail-biter. Jensen fought his way to a 2-1 decision over his Hononegah opponent.

The final LHS championship came at 189, where Brian Laughlin scored a pin over his Proviso opponent in 3:06. Cysewski, Jensen and Laughlin weren't the only LHS grapplers to reach the championship round, however.

Jennis Lartie (103), Brian Mar (160) and Scott Bishop (275) each made the finals only to settle for second, adding plenty of team points to the LHS kitty.

The Wildcats got fourth-place efforts from Matt Hansen (112), Ryan Pearson (130) and Dave Church (151), while teammate Len Orlando (171) took fifth.

Nike exhibit highlights U.S. track and field

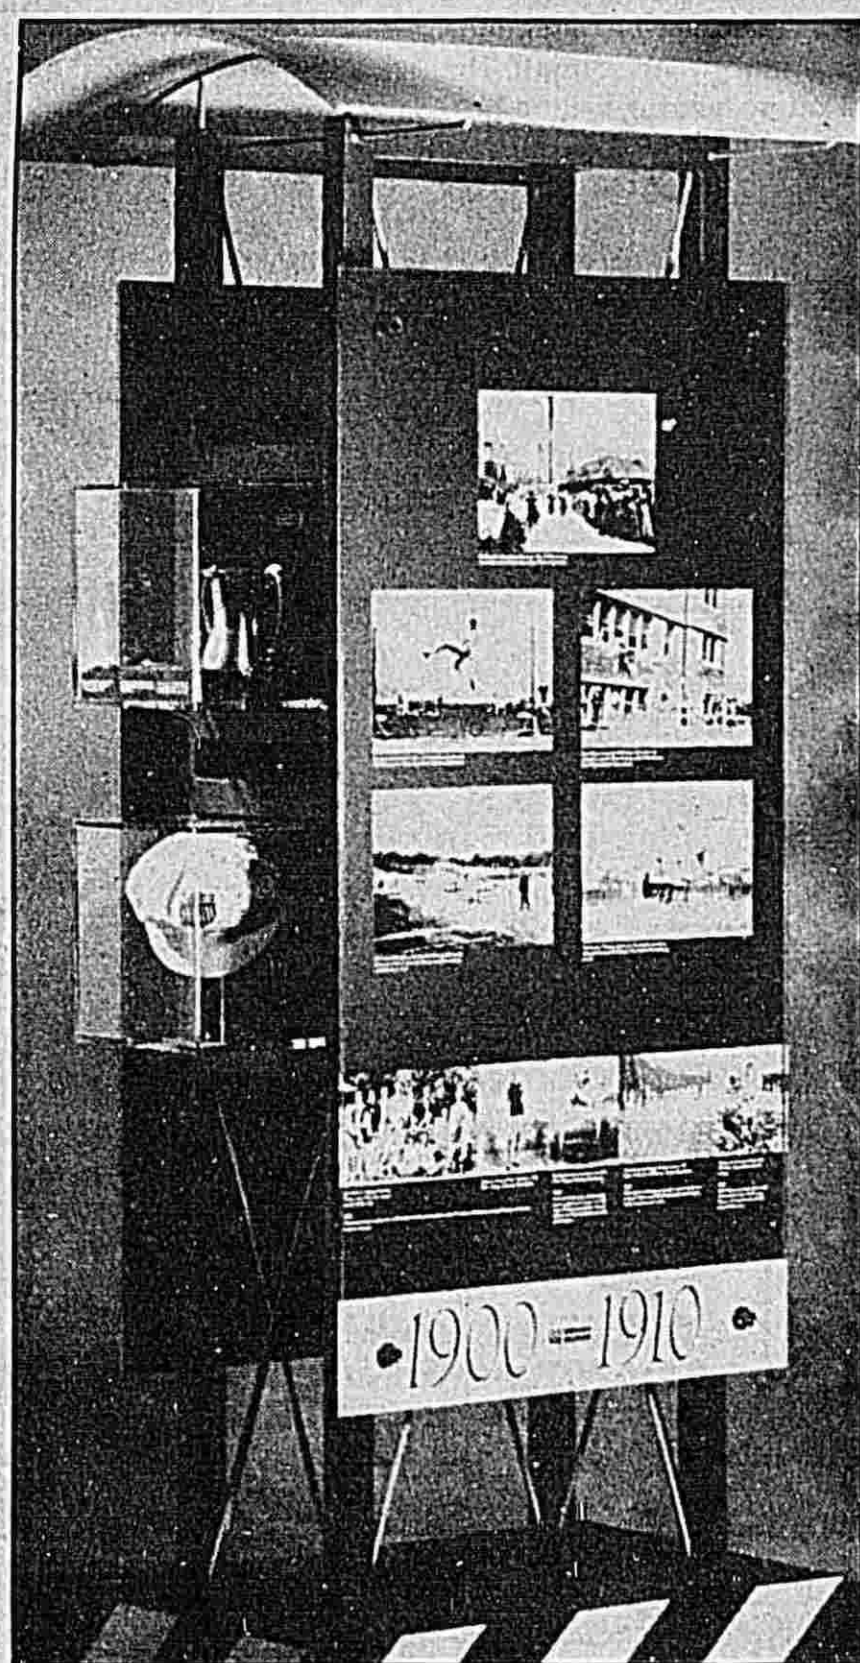

If seeing is believing, then visitors to Niketown in Chicago will most certainly believe in excellence.

Fujifilm's "Images of Excellence" traveling hall of fame will be on display at Niketown from Jan. 12 through Feb. 10. The exhibit features 16 photo modules, each highlighting an aspect or period of the colorful and successful history of U.S. track and field. The exhibit also includes rare memorabilia like Olympic sprint champion Archie Hahn's "official" Olympic hat, Martin Sheridan's 1902 Pas Time Athletic Club trophy.

The photos, however, convey a sense of excitement and accomplishment that spans the decades. From the 1900's exhibit, showing Ray Ewry unique scissor-style jump that he used to win three Olympic standing high jump titles, to the 1990's module featuring living legends like Jackie Joyner-Kersey hurdling to her eighth U.S. heptathlon title, the exhibit is as complete as it is impressive.

"Images of Excellence" premiered in New York in November and will continue to tour the country before it reaches its final destination, the U.S. Track and Field Hall of Fame in Indianapolis, Ind., in January of 1997.

Niketown is located at 669 N. Michigan Ave. in Chicago. The exhibit can be viewed from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m.-6 p.m. on Saturdays, and 10 a.m.-6 p.m. on Sundays.

The 1900s module of the Fujifilm "Images of Excellence" track and field exhibit features rare photos and keepsakes of America's athletic heroes from the turn of the century. — Submitted photo.

Hainesville police department growing with village

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

Though the Village of Hainesville may be the oldest incorporated town in Lake County, some of the past accounts may be going by the wayside—notably the ones stemming from the police department.

There are changes going on, and some reorganization for the town once deemed the infamous name "speed trap."

The village holds 14 part-time police officers, and plans are to hire more as needed. Currently interviews are taking place with the hopes to have more deputized patrolmen donning badges by early next week.

Full-time dairy farmers no longer seem to be the trend for part-time police officers in Hainesville. "We're looking at serious [officers]," said Sgt. George Filenko, support service coordinator for the police department.

Filenko is the longtime communications director for the Deerfield police department. Others that work for Hainesville include John Sapyta, Lake County Jail guard; and Ted Meeker, 10-year sergeant at the Great Lakes Naval base in North Chicago.

One particular applicant vying for a part-time job with the Hainesville department happens to be a forensic scientist, sporting a degree in microbiology, said Filenko.

The sergeant said he would like to stomp out any former bad publicity the fast-growing town has received. "Historically, there has been some questionable [going's on] here," he explained.

"What we'd like to do is have a pro-active, open door policy," said Filenko.

Upon entering the village, a green population sign reads "200." Officials agree it wouldn't be prudent at this time to change it to the current 1,200 people residing there. With one subdivision near completion, four more are slated to begin.

"The [past] reputation here has been a 'traffic area,'" said Filenko. The reason for hiring new officers, he explained is simply because of the potential growth.

Some of the things the police department is getting involved with is crime prevention including a neighborhood watch committee as well as a gang task force in cooperation with the Round Lake area and Lake County.

Filenko is working towards getting the Northern Illinois Police Alarm System (NIPAS) mutual response plan as part of the department.

By the end of this week Linda Soto, trustee and police commissioner, as well as acting chief Clarence "Buzz" Hodges plan on completing the interview process.

While Hodges is all for hiring new officers and making the police department the best it can be, there are a few things he is sticking to his guns on.

The six-year Hainesville cop said he believes the nickname may be a safety device for travelers and residents alike.

"I kind of like it [called] a 'speedtrap,'" said Hodges. "I'd rather put my name on the bottom of a traffic citation, than on the bottom of an accident report," he explained.

Exchangites keep tradition alive

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

With a friendly "ho, ho ho" or a rendition of Jingle Bells, Robert Frank, aka Santa Claus' helper, was greeted warmly by seniors at Winchester House.

Frank and an army of Grayslake Exchange Club members brightened the spirits of those spending Christmas at the county's senior citizen facility in Libertyville.

Frank was in his usual form, charming the residents this snowy Thursday afternoon with a hardy "Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night."

"Do you remember me from last year," Frank would say with a cheerful laugh.

Or maybe a "I have to hurry - my sleigh is double parked on the roof," he might chuckle.

"I'm wearing my street clothes," Frank would say.

"This is my happiest time of year," was another comment.

Winchester House volunteers helped the Exchangites. "We label presents and help open them up. This is my second year and I enjoy it," Carol Eglasser of Grayslake said.

"We're taking care of the seniors," Frank said.

"They are always appreciative," Kautz said.

At one point, the Santas marked on the calendar when they would be back in 1996. The effort begins in the dog days of August and September when Winchester House officials begin to seek out gift requests and match them with residents. Residents on all five floors receive gifts.

"The community was just so generous this year," Joan Tomlinson, resident services manager, said.

Santa's helper Bob Kautz estimated the club has been helping with the Sanata visit for some 15 years.

"The best part is getting the hugs," Santa's helper Adair Darland, club member, said.

Also assisting in the effort were: Carole Marovich, Lexie Brummeller, club president Ruth Ann Heiler, Hank de Groh, Bob Wegge, Glenn Snagel and Ron Runke.

"We had some pretty good smiles," Snagel said.

And that is what Christmas was all about.

Pace schedules hearings for ADA plan update

Pace, the suburban transportation service, has scheduled public hearings throughout the six-county service region to update the public on its 1996 Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) plan. The public is encouraged to attend the meetings and give their input. The Lake County hearing will be held Thursday, Jan. 4, at 1:30 p.m. in the Waukegan Public Library auditorium, 128 N. County St.

For more information, call Pace's Passenger Services Office at 364-7223. Those who require special accommodations to attend, such as interpreters or documents in large print, can contact Pace's Legal Department at 228-2365 or Pace's TDD line at 364-5093.

Roots of OBE are in making school's accountable

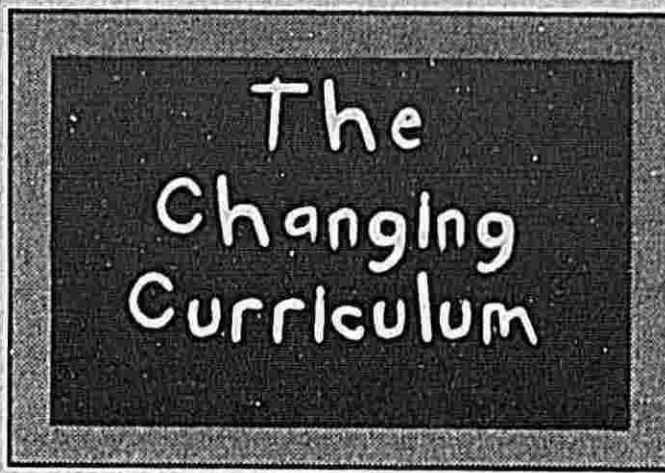

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor in Chief

Making school's accountable for the education of children is a concept most Americans can agree on. How those concepts are implemented is often the subject of controversy.

While many parents and citizens feel school standards and authority over curriculum belongs at the local school board level, many in the educational field feel its time for national standards that ensure children receive a quality education.

Lake Forest Superintendent of Schools Harry Griffith says removing local control over school curriculum is not a popular idea, but it is time in this nation that schools must be held accountable for whether or not students learn.

"The mission of Outcome Based Education is to provide and bring a high quality academic experience to schools," said Griffith. "It is an area that is good philosophy but difficult to implement. Right now, we have kids going through schools without learning. We accept too much mediocrity in our society. School educators should not give up on one child before it learns. I feel very strong about a clear, academic focus for children."

Griffith, who supports the basic concept of Outcome Based Education, says the concept has been misconstrued by many school districts throughout the nation.

"As I understand it, the concept brings set goals and outcomes that a student must achieve in order to pass to the next grade level. Under OBE, students are allowed to work on the skills until they master them," Griffith said. He believes OBE has come under such criticism because many school districts have included values education as part of the curriculum and because many districts have changed curriculum "to teach down" to the poorest performers in the classroom.

"It has come to include soft social areas which are difficult to measure," said Griffith. "Many schools See OBE page B3

Leader: History ignored in Dayton Accord

the fighting."

Christopher said for many Serbians the atrocity inflicted on their families in World War II is still evident in their minds.

"Bosnian Serbs fought bravely with the Western Allies while Croats and Muslims chose to fight with the Nazis," said Christopher. "Hitler created an independent state of Croatia in World War II and they had their final solution for the Serbian people."

According to Christopher, the Croatian plan was to convert one-third of Serbs to Roman Catholic, expel or "ethnic cleanse" another one-third and exterminate the remaining one-third of the population.

"One of the worst examples of genocide during World War II occurred against the Serbs at a World War II concentration camp," said Christopher. "It was as equal and beastly as Auschwitz, people remember what happened to their families. The Serbs of today lost their grandparents and parents to the Muslim and Croats who were aligned with Hitler. It wasn't that long ago. They still remember."

Christopher believes the West has been too soon to forget the history of World War II and before.

"The Serbs paid dearly for supporting the allies in World War II," said Christopher. "The West forgets it was the Allies who put Eastern Europe under Soviet Orbit, under which the Serbs continued to be persecuted. These decisions were made at Yalta as Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin carved up Europe in exchange for each other's support."

Christopher says the destruction of the World War II death camp by the Croats, after they declared themselves an independent country following the break-up of Yugoslavia, was a blow to the Serbs. "Where was the NATO commendation of that act?" Christopher questions. "And, why were the Croats asked to attend the dedication ceremony for the Holocaust Museum in Washington D.C. It is an irony."

Christopher feels that the German recognition of the new state of Croatia immediately and the Western acceptance of it, sowed seeds to the conflict.

"I asked you today, who won World War II?" Christopher said. "Who are the economic leaders of the world today—Germany and Japan. So I ask again, who won World War II?"

Christopher believes the zealotry of the west to recognize the new nations after the fall of the Iron Curtain, did not take history into account.

"The West helped to make it (Civil War) possible by too quickly recognizing the states before negotiations, before the people who lived in these areas were asked what type of rule they desired," Christopher said. "Americans are ignorant about the history of the region. They of the Serbs because reporters couldn't reach Serb areas," said Christopher. "What they learned, they learned from the Croats and pay little attention to what doesn't affect their everyday lives." He also believes news throughout the four-year civil war was biased because it was nearly impossible for journalists to travel beyond Sarajevo, a Muslim strong-hold.

"Little 'good news' was told the Muslims and they believed it."

The church leader shares cautious optimism for the Dayton accords because, he fears, NATO will eventually take sides in the conflict.

Father Bill to leave Carmel; significant changes his legacy

The Board of Carmel High School announced the Rev. William J. Harry, O. Carm., will be leaving the school at the end of June at the completion of his current contract. Fr. Bill, as he is commonly known, will conclude an 11-year term which included two years of service as principal and eight years as president. It is also a tenure which saw significant developments to the Lake County Catholic school.

In announcing the administrative change, the Rev. Raymond Clennon, O. Carm., regional Provincial of the Carmelites and the Chair of the Carmel Board of Corporators stated, "The board regrets seeing Fr. Bill leave Carmel especially in light of his many accomplishments, and we will miss his leadership. However, we understand his desire to pursue other interests and certainly thank him for his dedication and hard work on behalf of the families of Carmel these last 11 years."

During Fr. Bill's 11-year tenure, Carmel underwent significant changes in both its educational environment and physical campus. On July 1, 1988, the previous separate Carmel High School for Girls and Carmel High School for Boys were merged into one school and the president/principal model of administration instituted. At the same time, Carmel was separately incorporated legally, and a board structure was put in place which took responsibility for development of school policy.

In May 1991, a long range plan entitled "With a Rich Past, We Plan a Bright Future" was adopted which focused administrative energies on several areas, including the development of programs to move Carmel from providing only a secondary school program to providing a variety of services to the larger community. Among the most notable outcomes of this provision was the establishment of the Little Saints Daycare and Preschool for children throughout the Lake County area.

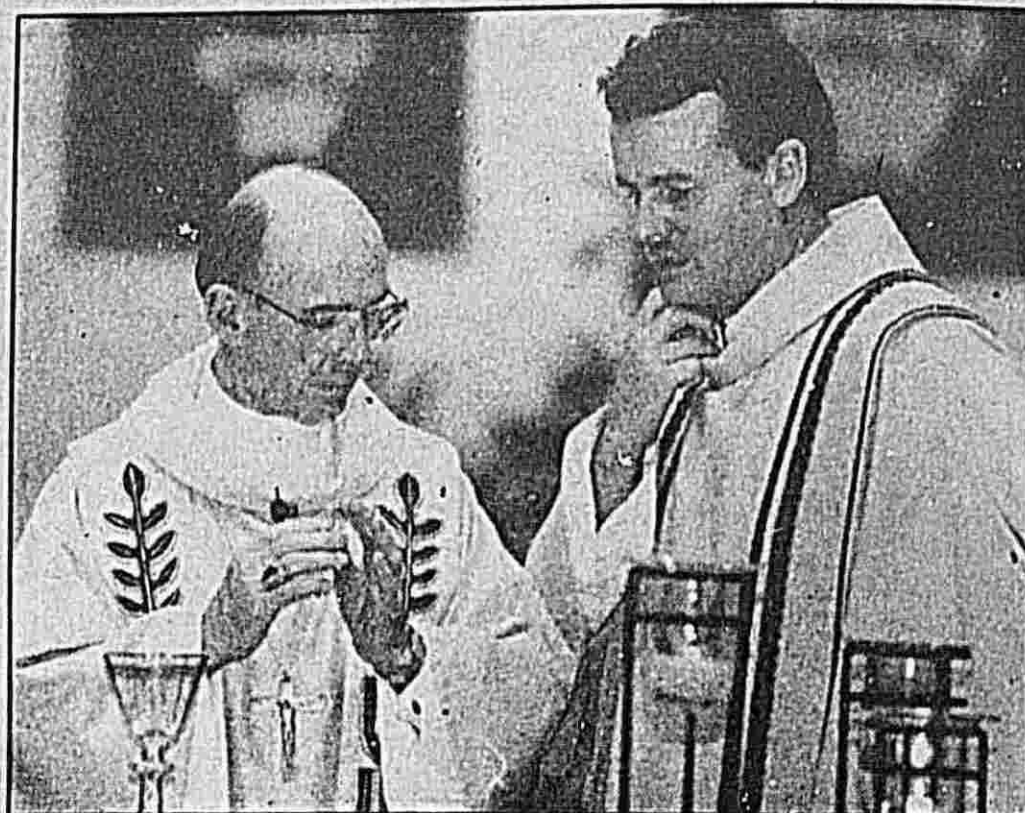

It was also during Fr. Bill's tenure that Carmel launched and successfully completed its first capital campaign, a $3 million project. Called "Carmel 2000," the campaign raised funds for a $250,000 "Teacher Enrichment Fund," a $350,000 "Student Scholarship Fund" and a 44,000-square-foot addition to the building. Joe Sweeney, the schools' director of development said, "Fr. Bill has kept Carmel on a path of advancement for the past 11 years. The successful completion of the Carmel 2000 campaign, the merger, the development of Little Saints, the technological innovations that have been instituted, and the carrying out of an effective long range plan are concrete examples of what Fr. Bill has accomplished to position Carmel to move boldly into the 21st century."

Sr. Mary Martens, BVM, a member of the Board of Corporators stated, "I commend Fr. Bill for his leadership and support in furthering the spirit and mission of the Carmelite Order and BVM Congregations at Carmel High School."

Among Fr. Bill's civic contributions are memberships on the Advisory Committee of the Southern Lake County Regional Action Planning Project (RAP), the Leadership Committee of Lake County Learners, and the Mundelein/Vernon Hills Rotary. For the past five years, he has volunteered as chaplain to the Mundelein Fire Department. In April 1994, he became the sixth person to receive the "Outstanding Citizen of the Village of Mundelein" award from the Mundelein mayor and the board of trustees in recognition of his work the people of Mundelein.

A native of Kentucky, Fr. Bill holds degrees from Marquette University, the University of Arizona, the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome and the University of St. Mary of the Lake. He also attended the University of Vienna in Austria and Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. Fr. Bill previously taught and worked as campus minister at Salpointe Catholic High School in Tucson, Ariz. He serves on the board of directors for Mount Carmel High School in Chicago. Fr. Bill will continue to reside in the Lake County area for the next year while on a sabbatical. He plans to complete a doctorate program which he began this past year as well as pursue other educational interests.

"Fr. Bill Harry, in his years at Carmel, has made a significant contribution to Carmel's present academic excellence and to the community. He positioned Carmel High School to meet the challenges of the 21st century's academic and community needs," said Joseph Krakora, a Carmel board member and parishioner at St. Mary's in Lake Forest. "His contribution in all areas of education, particularly technology, are second only to his spiritual aura. While he is an exceptional educational administrator, he is, in my perception, a Roman Catholic Carmelite priest first. The Christian Community of Carmel High School and Lake County have immeasurably benefited by his presence."

Patti Dowling summed up Fr. Bill's contribution to Carmel saying, "We will remember Fr. Bill's discovery hours, this tall man upside down standing on his head providing excitement and happy smiles on many little faces. We give him our blessing and pray that his new beginnings are as heartfelt as the one he gave us."

AT A GLANCE

Fire truck debt forgiven

ANTIOCH—Antioch trustees demonstrated the giving spirit of the holidays by forgiving a $3,000 debt owed by another town which was hit hard by natural disaster. Two years ago, the small village of Thebes, Ill., which straddles the Mississippi River in southern Illinois, bought a used fire engine for $5,000 and agreed to pay the Antioch Fire Department $1,000 a year for the fire engine. But natural disaster struck Thebes last year when spring floods and an overflowing Mississippi River submerged the small village. Although the Thebes village hall was under water, the fire engine was one of the remaining pieces of equipment and structures in the village to escape flood damage. The Thebes Fire Chief wrote a letter to Antioch officials requesting an extension of its $1,000 payment this year. Antioch trustees took the request one step further by eliminating the remaining $3,000 debt owed to Antioch.

Woman wants to be delegate

LINDENHURST—Karen Rydberg is seeking a nomination to be a delegate to the Democratic National Convention. She is vice-chairman of the Lake County Democratic Party. This is her first attempt at getting the nomination. She needs 150 signatures to get on the ballot in March. Since the convention is in Chicago, it would be convenient for her to go in 1996.

Village workers honored

LAKE VILLA—By January, four people who work for the police department will have 20 years of experience and their experience will be duly noted by village officials. Honored by the village board are Police Chief John Debevic, Lt. Joseph Diaguila, Cpl. Alan Trafford and clerk Donna Rosenberg. Mayor Frank Loffredo praised the quartet for giving the village a positive image and for handling difficult tasks over the years.

City honors own 'Santa'

PARK CITY—When Al Loggins was a rookie patrolman for the Park City police department, he had a new idea. Santa Claus, or one of his helpers, would ride along on a police squad car, distributing candy and good cheer. Some 20 years later, the good idea has become a tradition. Loggins was recognized at a Park City council meeting for his 20 years of being a Santa helper. The meeting itself was full of holiday cheer, as city council members took the opportunity to wish all a happy holiday season. Loggins reported starting at 11 a.m. Dec. 17 at Midway and Farmington mobile home parks, making his way to the city's west side. The entire operation takes more than seven hours.

FBI seeks serial bank robber

VERNON HILLS—The Federal Bureau of Investigation was able to obtain a photo of the bank robber believed to be responsible for seven armed bank robberies, including four in Lake County. According to the FBI, the suspect's latest hit occurred at First of America Bank in Vernon Hills Dec. 11. The FBI said he brandished a handgun and told tellers to put money into a brown paper bag. The same robber is believed to be responsible for robberies in Schaumburg, Oak Brook Terrace, Deerfield, Vernon Hills, Palatine, and Lake Zurich. It is the second time in a year a Vernon Hills bank was robbed. First Bank of America was robbed in July. First of America Bank in Lake Zurich was hit in September. The FBI describes the robber as 5'7", thin, blond hair, white male in his early 20s. Anyone with information should call the FBI at (312)431-1333.

Chimney fire hits home

FOX LAKE—There was damage to the ceiling but the presents were saved after Fox Lake firefighters put out a holiday blaze on Christmas Day. An estimated $8,000 in damages occurred from a fire which originated in the chimney of a home at 1012 Hooks Lane in Fox Lake. The fire was contained in the chimney of the fire place, after fires were being burned all day long. The fire moved up the chimney to the attic portion of the home, damaging the ceiling, according to reports. No injuries were reported, and the Lake Villa Fire Department was on standby in case they were needed to assist.

Nature center money granted

KILDEER—Village officials got an early Christmas gift with the announcement the village had received federal funds to acquire a 5-acre parcel of land and keep it as a nature preserve. Kildeer President Barbara L. Schwieter said the village learned it received an Open Space Land Acquisition Development grant for the property on Quentin Road at High Knoll Court. The grant will give the village $100,000, approximately half the cost of purchasing the 5 acres, Schwieter said. Purchasing another adjacent acre for future use as a village hall will cost the village more, bringing the total expenditure to $245,000. The land will be lightly developed into a nature center and kept for passive recreation, with grant money available for trails and toilet facilities, she said. Developing the land will take place later in 1996, with talks of a village hall renewed now that an actual site exists.

Grayslake receives windfall

GRAYSLAKE—The Village of Grayslake, will soon be coming into money. It will inherit an estimated $23.2 million, over a 25 year period from the USA Waste/Countryside Landfill, host fees. The host fees are generated at an escalating per ton fee, over the 25-year life of the landfill. According to Village Manager Mike Ellis, the landfill doesn't actually fall into the village boundaries but is surrounded by the village on three sides, so Grayslake was included in the negotiation process. Under the agreement, Countryside will give funds to the village, because of the landfill's proximity and impact on the village.

LHS may start school earlier

LIBERTYVILLE—The Libertyville High School Board of Education is considering the possibility of moving the fall school starting date ahead, to allow finals to be held prior to winter break. The board is in the process of planning the calendar for the next academic year and is considering this as an option. The board will approve the school calendar for the 1996-97 school year in January.

Fremont School eyes options

MUNDELEIN—The Fremont School Board has received information on the 1995 enrollment projections, the Advisory Council report studying impact of growth on Dist. 79, and the facility forecast study for possible space options. The Superintendent's Advisory Council report indicated a 10 percent growth rate could be expected. With a capacity of 1,250 students, the district would need more space by the 1998-99 school year to provide for an enrollment of more than 1,300. The facility forecast study offered two options for expansion that included new construction on 10 acres of land the district owns on Rte. 83 just north of Rte. 176.

Adams announces re-entry as state senate candidate

Thomas G. Adams, who previously withdrew from the 30th District State Senate race for the Republican Nominee in the March, 1996 Primary, is again a candidate and nominating petitions have been filed in Springfield with the Illinois Election Commission.

Adams indicated that supporters asked him to reconsider his position on running for the State Senate because of his strong business and government experience. Because of their urging and their help in obtaining signatures on nominating petitions, Adams does officially re-enter as a candidate.

Adams' advised, "It is with great pleasure that I announce to my supporters and the voters in District 30 that I am a candidate for the State Senate. I'm committed to bringing this endeavor to a very positive conclusion on March 19, 1996, as the Republican State Senate Nominee for the 30th District and then go on to a successful Republican victory in the November 1996 General Election. I'm a strong Republican with over 35 years of business experience, 15 years of local government experience and have a unique understanding of the complexity and diversity of the 30th District since I grew up, went to school and have lived in this District most of my life. It will be my honor to serve everyone in our District as your State Senator."

Adams is a Republican precinct committeeman on the board of governors of the Lake County Republican Federation, is the mayor of Green Oaks and serves on the Lake County Economic Development Commission as well as many other Lake County governmental agencies. He is an officer and director of the Lake County Municipal League and on that organization's legislative committee.

Thomas Adams

Adams is a senior vice president with Trustmark Insurance Company in Lake Forest and serves on the board of directors of Private Health Care Systems, Inc., a national managed healthcare company headquartered in Waltham, Mass. He has been very active with civic and volunteer organizations including chambers of commerce, the YMCA, Boy Scouts of America, Lake County United Way and presently serves on the board of Lambs Farm, Inc. in Green Oaks.

Adams is married to Gail L. Adams who is a retired school teacher and an owner of two printing and publishing businesses in Lake County. The couple will celebrate their 38th wedding anniversary in January and have two sons and four grandchildren. Adams is a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Libertyville.

balance values teaching against the need. But, I disagree with how it has been implemented."

"It is a big mistake to allow any child to wait for the rest of the class to catch up," said Griffith. "Once a child masters a concept they should proceed to the next outcome. If a child needs remedial or supplemental instruction then they should receive it."

Griffith also disagrees with extensive retesting that has been associated with OBE.

"Repeat testing is a legitimate concern," said Griffith. "I believe schools should allow retesting to demonstrate a mastery of learning similar to the concept used by the American Bar Association in allowing people to retest because you want individuals who show a mastery of the information. But continuous re-testing can be abused."

In Lake Forest, Griffith has not implemented Outcome Based Education in the district but the district is looking at its curriculum to make sure it adequately prepares students.

"The concepts of Outcome Based Education, setting goals and standards that must be mastered, is a business-like approach to education. In education, we tend to be traditional because of the special interest in the community," Griffith said. "It comes down to the people involved and the implementation."

Griffith came to the Lake Forest Elementary District in July 1994. Griffith successfully brought-up standardized test scores in his previous district of Goose Creek in suburban Houston.

that the U.S. led- NATO force refrain from taking sides in the conflict, as it has in the past. Peace cannot be achieved by arming the Muslim side while simultaneously disarming the Serbs," Christopher said. "Further arms for the Muslims will encourage their extremist to persists in fighting, while convincing Serbian residents of Bosnia that the U.S. is more interested in Muslim military victories than peace."

Christopher believes with U.S. troops on the ground, our nation can no longer afford not to understand the root causes of the fighting in the former Yugoslavia.

The church leader is concerned about the president's "fighting fire with fire, and then some," philosophy.

"One side can easily stage an attack and blame the other side," said Christopher. "That is what happened this summer after the shelling of the Trznica market, which was used as pretext to bomb Bosnian Serbs. This despite that fact the UN ammunition experts, both French and British, would later confirm that Muslim forces staged the attack. To keep a fragile peace it is important that a U.S.-led NATO react only when it can confirm who was responsible for a violation of the peace agreement."

"A civil war brings out the worst in all sides," said Christopher. "The quickest way for any side to get the world's attention again will be to harm an American soldier. I don't think the American people want that. If are forces our used carefully, with strict neutrality, the chance of success is greatly enhanced."

Outcome to define Rte. 53 opposition

As the 1996 spring primary election begins to unfold, one race already is attracting attention due to a combination of interest, drama and significance, quite possibly a defining contest for future politics in Lake County. We're speaking of the Republican primary for the nomination of state representative in the 51st Dist. covering parts of Elia and Vernon townships including highly populated areas like Buffalo Grove, Lake Zurich, Long Grove and Vernon Hills.

Incumbent State Rep. Verna Clayton (R-Buffalo Grove) is being challenged by Mike Salvi of Long Grove, a young attorney making his first bid for public office.

The contest pits a young Republican against an old Republican. The race will test voter acceptance of the philosophy of an independent Republican (Salvi) vs. a party regular (Clayton). Most significantly, the race will signal whether growing opposition of the electorate to the proposed extension of Rte. 53 as a tollway translates into the arena of elective politics.

Salvi is basing his candidacy squarely on opposition to Rte. 53. Clayton, during many years in office as mayor of Buffalo Grove and then as a first term in the General Assembly, supports the controversial billion-dollar highway project.

Salvi has described Clayton as part of the conga-line of Republican regulars and local politicians who have lined up calling for construction of the tollway extension even in the face of massive damage that would be inflicted on the environment and questionable need for another north-south arterial in a locality beset with east-west commuting needs. The vocal newcomer calls for election of state representatives who are not politically aligned with politicians outside their district, a reference to House Majority Leader Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) and House Speaker Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst) whose constituents will not be impacted by the noise, pollution and rampant development that the new tollway most certainly will bring.

Targeting Clayton's change of heart about rejoining the race after announcing her retirement, Salvi bitingly states, "She's voting for a tollway in the heart of her district and then she's leaving for South Carolina."

Strong words, indeed, but campaign rhetoric designed to hit home not only to homeowners who will be displaced by tollway construction but also grab the attention of the growing number of electors who understand that Rte. 53 is as much about land development rights and courting special interests as it is about improving transportation.

The Salvi-Clayton match will be watched closely for not only how it plays out in the context of the Rte. 53 controversy, but how the results will foretell future Republican politics.

Homeless man opens eyes of youth in search of truth

SAM MCKEE

One encounter with a homeless man revolutionized my view of Christmas.

The 2,000-year-old story of the shepherds and wise men coming to marvel at a homeless child, who was prophesied to be a unity of divinity and humanity, seemed a little far-fetched to me as an American teenager.

As a freshman at the College of Lake County, I took a philosophy course that delved into religion. I knew there was something more to life, but I didn't want to follow in my parents' footsteps or create a crutch to fit my needs and match my personal philosophy.

One night, I knelt down in my room and said, "God, I don't know who you are, but I know that you've helped me out. Now, I just want you to guide me to the truth. I don't care what it is. I just want something that's real and true."

An odd message began running through my mind, almost like a song that you can't get out of your head. The message said, "There's someone you have to meet. Go outside and call out the name 'Simeon.'"

At this point, I thought I might have some kind of neurosis, or maybe I had eaten some bad chili for dinner. But I wasn't ready to give up, so I tried to clear my mind again. Still, the message kept

Resolutions aplenty present test for '96

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

I'm still old-fashioned enough to believe that if you don't write down New Year's resolutions, it's still worthwhile thinking about things you want to do during the new year.

With the intention of having you join in a time-honored custom, here are some of the things big and small (mostly small) your faithful scribe has been thinking about for 1996:

1. Attend church services more often.
2. Plant a garden.
3. Cut out (down) second helpings and desserts.
4. Play more golf—early morning tee times can be downright spiritual.
5. Play more tennis—"action sport" even for an old hacker.
6. Walk more. Should be a snap with the lady of the house a willing accomplice and our shepherd who's always ready for a romp in the Forest Preserve.
7. Check the voice mail more than once a day.
8. Keep in better touch with old friends. Nothing like a call or a note from a friend from long ago to brighten your day.
9. Confine TV watching to sports and PBS documentaries (Seinfeld excepted). Who needs 10 o'clock news pap and trashy sitcoms?
10. Become more computer literate. But my trusty Underwood stays.
11. Allow more driving space. I'm a compulsive tailgater and centerline hugger.
12. Work for a professional baseball franchise for Lake County. Got to have a team we can call "our own."
13. Baker's dozen. Retire Bill Clinton with a Republican president. (The most important resolution of all). That ought to do it. I'm running out of time—and your patience.

Resolved: 1996 is coming, ready or not.

NEW JOB—Jack Shaffer, who once represented parts of Lake and McHenry counties in the Illinois Senate, is the odds on favorite for appointment in 1996 as the new commissioner of banks and trust companies. Shaffer presently is director of the Illinois Savings and Loan Commission. The pending appointment means Shaffer won't pursue elective office again like his last unsuccessful attempt for Congress.

SAD NEWS—The end of the year brings the disquieting news that the Rev. William Harry, president of Carmel High School, will be the leaving the Lake County educational scene in 1996. The Mundelein Fire Dept. will be losing a spirited firefighter. Moreover, the Lake County community will be losing one of its foremost educators.

Admired, revered, respected, Father Bill is certain to receive an avalanche of accolades in the coming months as he winds down his career here, all of them richly deserved. Suffice it to say at this time that he will be missed. Big time.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—The holidays have been special for the legion of friends of retired Judge Minard Hulse, whose start of the second century of life added to festivities.

The soft-spoken, kindly jurist seemed like an old-timer when this scribe started in the news business in Lake County more than four decades ago. Oddly, how the passage of time erases age differences so reports of Judge Hulse's 100th birthday came as somewhat of a surprise.

Warm stories abounded of Judge Hulse's long service both on the bench and to the community. Here's my favorite: As was the practice at the time, to the young judge fell the task of facing a parade of unfortunates Monday mornings whose only crime was imbibing too freely over the weekend. Police reports then coded the penniless mopes as DD&O—drunk, down and out. The "punishment" typically amounted to spending time in County Jail to sober up. Judge Hulse dutifully meted out justice, but was known to dig into his own pocket to make sure the hapless citizens had a few bucks in their pocket after a stay in the pokie.

That was Minard Hulse—duty bound, fair, understanding and compassionate. Talk about a role model! Many happy returns.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—From the great-grandmas to little John and Erika, everyone was accounted for Christmas Eve. Christmas is for families. This year's gathering, though, became a going-away party for Bill Jr. who leaves Jan. 2 for a month of Navy Reserve duty in Italy for an assignment in support of our troops in Bosnia. May God be kind to you and yours in the coming year. Happy New Year!

PARTY LINES

Conservation bureau caught in political grudge matches

A couple of Lake County Board primary contests are showing early indications of a good, old-fashioned grudge match.

In the middle is the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation Dist., a non-partisan, non-political bureau that provides soil information and mapping services. Here's what has happened:

For years, the district shared office space in the Lake County Farm Bureau building on Rte. 45 with the National Resource Conservation Service (NRCS). When NRCS relocated to McHenry County during the summer, Soil and Water had to find new quarters.

"I think Dick Raftis is ticked because we moved and he's taking it out on me," exclaimed Susan Kohl, one of the five non-paid directors of Soil and Water. Raftis, Farm Bureau manager and County Board Dist. 11 representative, may also be ticked because Kohl is challenging him for the Republican nomination.

Raftis

But there's more. Last spring, Raftis and County Board Rep. Bob Neal (R-Wadsworth) maneuvered, as members of the county finance committee, to discontinue the $22,500 annual stipend paid by the county for years to support soil and conservation work. Raftis and Neal were overruled.

But there's still more. Another Soil and Water director is Al Westerman of Gurnee, who is running against County Chairman Bob Depke for the GOP nomination in Warren Township. Westerman, a former ranger with the Forest Preserve Dist., reportedly has some scores to settle with Depke as a former county employee.

Talk about a political stew pot. Look for plenty of fur to be flying in these two central county races.

Dog-gone good—Wayne Kurzeja of Barrington Hills, a candidate for the Republican U.S. Senate nomination, paid $50,000 as a reward for the photo of a Chicago hotdog stand his father ran years ago before Kurzeja became a wealthy lawyer.

Kurzeja, 49, made the payout in the form of donations to five different charities. Kurzeja needed the photo for a book he wrote about his family's humble beginnings. Backers of Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra, who also is a senate candidate, scoffed that Kurzeja offered the reward as a campaign publicity stunt.

Standing fast—U.S. Senate candidate Al Salvi isn't backing away from opposition to two Republican positions—product liability jury caps and reform of the out-moded Scaffolding Act. At a campaign breakfast in Crystal Lake, Salvi said his opposition reflects his independence and the fact that he is a true conservative. The Wauconda Republican told the audience that his message is "catching on."

Salvi

Voice of Employers—The Management Association of Illinois recognized three Lake County legislators with "Voice of Employer" awards for their support of the Management Association position on employment law legislation. Retiring State Senator David Barkhausen (R-Lake Bluff), State Senator Adeline Geo-Karls (R-Zion) and Barkhausen and State Senator Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove) received the accolades.

Peterson

Rinaolo calls for reform—In a year-end proposal to his GOP primary opponent Congressman John Porter (R-10th), Lake Forest businessman Richard Rinaolo has called for a sweeping joint agreement to prohibit the acceptance or use of out-of-district PAC money by either candidate in the upcoming 10th District GOP Primary campaign for Congress.

"It's time to stop preaching about campaign finance reform and start practicing it," said Rinaolo. "I think it's deeply disturbing to 10th district voters that Washington PAC lobbyists can contribute five times as much ($5,000) as district residents can ($1,000 maximum) to their own Congressman—who supposedly represents only the interest of his constituents."

The Rinaolo campaign claims Porter has received more than $240,000 from more than 150 special-interest political action committees since 1993. He cites Federal Election Commission records.

Tollway carols—In a chorus of Yuletide jeers, a region wide alliance fighting proposed tollways unveils the second verse in their rendition of "The Twelve Days of Christmas" with the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority, ironically, playing the role of "My True Love." An alliance of anti-tollway groups from the six-county metropolitan area are inviting residents to join with them in singing:

"On the second day of Christmas, the Tollway gave to me—endless time waiting And a promise to make roads free."

"Considering the millions we've given the Toll Authority over the years, we thought it was only fitting to recount what they've given us," said Mike Truppa of Chicago-based Environmental Law and Policy Center.

The caroling comes on the heels of an exchange between the Toll Authority board members and representatives from more than 400 groups opposed to the proposed extensions of I-355. Those extension through Lake and Will County are estimated to cost $2 billion.

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Metra arrives with blinders

Editor: It has been three years since passengers rode the Wisconsin Central passenger train north to Antioch.

Commentary

From page B4 coming: "There's someone you have to meet. Go outside and call out the name 'Simeon.'"

I thought I was crazy, but I went outside. I whispered the name once, then a little louder. Finally, I yelled it, expecting some guy to come walking down the street and tell me everything I needed to know about the universe. I stood there for a few minutes, then figured I was just nuts.

The next morning, I went to school at CLC and work at Peppermint Stick Preschool in Antioch, still thinking I was crazy about the whole "Simeon" thing.

Finally, I traveled to the PADS homeless shelter in the basement of the United Protestant Church in Grayslake, next door to the Lakeland Newspapers' main office.

While passing out clothes and food, I saw a homeless man sitting in a folding chair reading a book. I asked him what he was reading.

He told me it was a narrative about the life of Jesus. Then he said, "I want to read you something..." and he paused as he spun through the pages. When he found

The trip was a one time, one day safety trip.

Grayslake/Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills, Lincolnshire, Buffalo Grove, Wheeling, Prospect Heights, Des Plaines and Antioch at the far north tip of the commute.

The problem is that the railroad tracks cut right through the center of the school campus.

On one side of the tracks are the physical school buildings and on the other side of the tracks are the athletic fields. There is only one way to get from the school building to the athletic fields and gym classes. That is a black top walk path where students must pass. No crossing gates, no walk bridge, no tunnel and no solution. How could there be a solution if those in charge could not visualize a future disaster?

If a walk bridge, tunnel or student crossing gate/guard cannot be completed in time for the 1996 fall start of commuter service then to play it safe the train should stop short of the walk path until a safe the train should stop short of the walk path until a safe solution can be in place.

Safety of the Antioch students should come before a bureaucrat cutting a ribbon this fall.

LETTERS INVITED

Letters to the editor are welcome. They should be on topics of general interest, approximately 250 words or less. All letters must be signed, and contain a home address and telephone number. The editor reserves the right to condense all letters.

homeless, disabled and drug-addicted people come to the service and share their stories. I've seen people of all different colors and cultures walk through the doors and receive the same warm welcome.

The people didn't come for a beautiful building because there was none to find. They came because between those four walls, there is heart and soul and faith—a strong faith that God is right there with them in their trials and tears, their laughter and years.

Just as the homeless child split time into A.D. and B.C., so the homeless man's arrival divided the history of my life. Since that evening, I've never been the same.

Somehow, the story of the homeless child seems easier to believe after my encounter with the homeless wise man.

Mundelein couple receives Kemper Humanitarian Award for volunteering

Charles and Teresa Bartels of Mundelein have been presented the third annual James S. Kemper, Jr. Humanitarian Award by the Women's Board of the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA).

The Bartels, owners of Manpower Temporary Services of Northeastern Illinois, were honored for their longtime volunteer service to NICASA and other not-for-profit agencies in Lake County.

The award was presented at the Angel Ball at Chicago Botanic Garden, Glencoe. Sponsored by the Women's Board, the holiday dinner dance attracted 180 people and raised nearly $25,000 to benefit the agency's prevention and treatment programs.

Nancy Magee, president, praised co-chairs Cindy Simmons and Denise Vickers for directing the board's most successful fund-raiser. "It was a wonderful night. Cindy and Denise didn't miss a detail."

In addition to participating generously in many of NICASA's fundraising events, the Bartels are providing training and job placement in support of the self-sufficiency phase of NICASA's Women and Children's Center in North Chicago, Magee said.

"This is a significant contribution to the rehabilitation of the women at the center," Magee said in presenting the award. She said clients who have jobs will be able to provide an opportunity for a better life for their children.

"I think this contribution in particular speaks to the hearts of Chuck and Teresa. They are supportive parents themselves of five boys between them," she said.

The Bartels have served in leadership roles with the United Way of Lake County, the College of Lake County Foundation, the Boy Scouts, LaCASA, Carmel High School Booster Club, Lake County Fighting Back, St. Anastasia School PTO, Lake County LEARNS and Saint Therese Hospital.

Family blast offers alcohol-free New Year's Eve bash

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor in Chief

New Year's Eve has traditionally been a night for drinking and revelry. A night for dressing up and going out on the town. But what if the party scene is not for you?

Magic City in Gurnee is offering a New Year's Eve Family Blast which includes unlimited food and fun.

The event will be held Dec. 31 beginning at 6 p.m. and ending at 1 p.m., Jan. 1. The evening includes roller skating from 6 to 8 p.m., two live bands performing throughout the night, unlimited laser tag, bumper cars, roller coaster rides and soft-play use.

To satisfy the family appetite, the cost of admission includes all you can eat pizza and a snack buffet. Hat, horns and balloons will be provided as well as sparkling cider for a midnight toast.

The event is designed for families who desire a place to celebrate the holiday safely and those who do not wish to be around individuals who are drinking.

"We wanted to create a safe, fun, family atmosphere for New Year's Eve," said Ursula Korstanje, director of marketing, promotions and public relations for Magic City. "Many families want to spend more time with their kids and make New Year's Eve a family event. At Magic City, the kids will be able to play in the next room while mom and dad dance."

The event is also designed as a place where parents can drop off their children for a night of fun, while they proceed with their own plans, giving the kids their own party to attend.

"We are accepting children of school age," said Korstanje. "There will be adequate supervision. We will have our full staff of security personnel here to work with the kids and make sure they have a great time."

In addition to featuring one admission charge for the entire evening of fun, the family blast includes all you can eat pizza and a snack buffet which will be changed and kept filled throughout the evening. The only thing not included in the cost of admission is game tokens.

Two live bands will play intermittently throughout the evening. They are Back Alley Blues and Stand. Both local groups will provide a mix of music including jazz, classic rock and rhythm and blues.

"Whether you are looking for a family event or for a place where alcohol won't be a part of the event, Magic City will be the place to be on the holiday," said Korstanje.

Reservations are recommended but not required. Call 249-9100, ext. 111 to make reservations.

The cost is $19.95 per person. Children under 3 years of age are admitted free.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) The week begins on a very festive note. You are firmly ensconced in the bosom of family and friends. However, the upcoming work week is demanding.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A very special gift comes your way and the donor is more than happy with your grateful response. In turn, you are generous with those around you. Later in the week, it's a good time to turn attention to work.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It seems you can never get enough of "decking the halls." You really enjoy this time of year. Spend time later in the week tending to the needs of co-workers.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You share a very special holiday, particularly with family members who are in very festive moods themselves. On the job front, bigwigs expect much of you and are likely to make some demands on your personal time. Weigh the fairness of this before acquiescing.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Your patience is wearing thin with all this holiday frivolity and you're being a bit grumpy with people who don't deserve such treatment. Get back in touch with the child inside yourself.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Although you get some flak from family members who think you go overboard this time of year, you're still having a wonderful time. A child is a special source of joy. Some time is spent later in the week making gift exchanges.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You are thrilled when this time of year rolls around. However, it's important to pay attention to the spiritual meaning of the holiday. You are only fulfilled when your soul is satisfied. A child can help with this.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You spend some time this week trying to atone for that stinging remark you hurled at a relative across the holiday table. You really need to think before you speak. Toward the end of the week, you are happy with progress on the job.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You're sure if you hear one more seasonal song, you'll positively scream. However, not everyone around you is in agreement. Don't spoil the holiday season for those who really enjoy it. A family member can help you see things differently.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You are happy and content as you sit among the ribbons and wrapping paper, viewing the spoils of the holiday season. However, you need to gear up for tasks which await you on the job. Clients aren't so festive.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) It's a good time to plan a spontaneous New Year party for everyone you know. A loved one is particularly helpful to you in doing this. Don't be afraid that people have already made plans. Not everyone is committed.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Overindulging in holiday goodies finds you a bit queasy early in the week. Rest up to combat this. Your significant other is concerned about you. However, you can allay this person's fears by taking good care of yourself.

Traveling hall of fame for track &amp; field at Nike Town

"Images of Excellence" is a museum-quality exhibit honoring champions, record-breakers and those who achieved greatness in USA track & field in the decades from the 1860's through today.

Presented by Fujifilm and designed by NIKE, Inc., both USA Track & Field national sponsors, the exhibit's 16 life-sized modules are grouped by decades and according to special themes.

"Images of Excellence" features rare and historic photographs of track and field greats from Jim Thorpe to Babe Didrikson to Dan O'Brien and Jackie Joyner Kersee, as well as pieces of memorabilia.

The exhibit will be on display at Nike Town Chicago, 669 N. Michigan Ave., from Jan. 12 to Feb. 10. Store hours are Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The exhibit, which reflects the trends, milestones, and emotions that have driven American track and field throughout history, made its debut in New York City in November, and will tour Chicago, Atlanta, and Los Angeles during 1996 before returning to the USA Track & Field's national headquarters for permanent installation as the Hall of Fame in January 1997.

Chicago Already Has A Third Airport - It's In Milwaukee

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

If you live in northern Lake County, it may actually take you no longer to drive to Milwaukee's General Mitchell airport than it does to get to O'Hare. In fact, with the all too common back-up at the Deerfield toll plaza, you could probably be at your gate at Mitchell before you even arrive at O'Hare's remote parking lot.

Parking lots may be a good place to begin our comparison of these airports. Once you arrive at O'Hare's remote parking lot (where you're probably going to park unless you're willing to pay $16 a day at the lot adjacent to the terminal) you've still got a tram ride ahead of you. Even this lot is going to cost you $9 a day. Sure, you can park at O'Hare's remote remote lot and pay only $6 a day, but then you've also got to add a bus ride to get to the tram to get to the terminal.

Now, let's look at our parking choice at Milwaukee's Mitchell airport. You can pay $4 a day to park at Mitchell's remote lot. Or for only a dollar a day more and park right at the terminal in an enclosed lot. It's then only a 5 to 10 minute walk through a covered skywalk to your gate.

If you're just picking someone up, and are going to be less than 30 minutes, the thoughtful people at this airport will let you park absolutely free!

You may have a better chance of getting a non-stop flight from O'Hare, but if you're flying to San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Las Vegas, Phoenix, Denver, Houston, Tampa, Ft. Myers, Orlando, Ft. Lauderdale, Boston or 35 other cities, you should be able to do it from Milwaukee without changing planes.

There are also two airlines that make Mitchell a very special place from which to fly. For a real bargain, you can't beat American Trans Air's (ATA) cheap fares to many vacation destinations.

Then there's Milwaukee's luxury airline, Midwest Express, where, for no more than the cost of a coach ticket on most other airlines and just slightly more than the bargain carriers, you get an extra wide, two across leather seat, gourmet meals, free champagne and the best chocolate chip cookies I've ever had.

So, the next time you're planning a trip, ask your travel agent to check flights from Milwaukee first.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

Second City e.t.c.'s revue shines

Second City e.t.c., which occupies the studio theater space in the same building as its parent, Second City, has debuted its 15th satirical revue, "Baby Richard Got Back, or It's Not Easy Being Bob Greene."

Directed by Norm Holly, the six-member cast bears down on some familiar targets—from crime and aging to the communication gap and fairy tales. Politics get its licks: There's a "Dance for Bosnia" in one skit, and another dwells on the United Nations as peacekeeper.

But the show really shines when it hones in on personal relationships. "Sister" is a bitter-sweet look at a brother's social life complicated but not compromised by the needs of a sibling who needs special supervision. "Baby" becomes a multimedia romp, wonderfully synthesizing to its essence the widely publicized story of the court-ordered return of a young child to his natural parents after years of living with an adoptive family.

The wacky cast includes John Hildreth, Dee Ryan, Brian Stack, Miriam Tolan, Jim Zulevic and

With roughly 85 percent of the material genuinely funny, it's unfortunate that some tasteless sight gags manage to intrude as do other puerile-at-best sendups (is flatulence really that amusing?).

SPECIAL EVENTS

Play around on New Year's Eve

For the first time, a coalition of Chicago's most upscale singles businesses are coming together to present the biggest and best New Year's Eve party, taking place on Dec. 31 at F.A.O. Schwarz, 840 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. The party will be held in the entire toy store—all three stories—and party goers can play with the toys. Along with dancing, complimentary drinks and catered buffet tables, party favors and a champagne toast will bring in the new year. This party is for eligible, upscale professionals over 30. The cost is $95 in advance, $150 for two people, or $100 at the door (cash only). Call The Social Network for more information, (312)641-2404.

See Volo Bog by moonlight

John Pinette, the comedy giant instantly recognized for his signature "You Go Now" routine, comes to Zanies Comedy Nite Club in Vernon Hills on Dec. 31. He was the star of the TV series "Parker Lewis" and has signed a deal with Disney and Fox Television to star in his own sitcom. Zanies is located at 230 Hawthorn Village Commons. Show times and ticket prices are $25 for the 7 p.m. show and $50 for the 10:30 p.m. show. Purchase tickets by calling 549-6030.

Schuett's bridge class resume

Popular bridge instructor Ginny Schuett will teach "Defense!" and "Play of the Hand" classes at Gorton Community Center, 400 E. Illinois Rd., Lake Forest.

"Defense!" beginning Monday, Jan. 8, will be offered from 1 to 3 p.m. and is $70. Learn how to read the lead, return or not return your partner's suit, give count and attitude, and discover the usefulness of suit preference. Be a great defender—let the cards direct the defense and not your partner's groans or grins.

"Play of the Hand," beginning Tuesday, Jan. 9, will be offered from 1 to 3 p.m., and the fee is $80. The class will include a thorough bidding review, but the emphasis will be on playing the hand. Two techniques will be reviewed: high from shot and promotion. Counting winners, losers, and trump will be taught along with when to draw trump or not to draw trump, how to set up a long suit, and how to set up a long suit, and how to take a finesse. Advanced registration is necessary for both classes. For further information, contact the Gorton office at 234-6060 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Award

"Through their caring and compassion and a lifetime of giving, Chuck and Teresa have helped to brighten the lives of many who may never have had hope or a promise for the future."

The Bartels said they were most appreciative of receiving the award and they noted that the strongest friendships they've developed over the years have been with volunteers.

After showing a video history of the Bartels' community involvement, Magee read a letter from Manpower employees who expressed great admiration for the couple.

"Chuck and Teresa, learning the art of the service business from you is a challenge and an honor," the letter said. "Experiencing with you the art of charity is a gift for all of us. Again, congratulations on this distinct honor. We honestly share in your pride."

Judy Fried, NICASA's executive director, said, "The Angel Ball was so wonderfully organized and reflected the great spirit of NICASA's board, the women's board and supporters. The honorees, Chuck and Teresa, are role models for family and community values."

Madame Abear's psychic tips for '96

I watched one of those commercials the other day for Dionne Warwick's "Psychic Hotline" and, correct me if I'm wrong, but isn't she the same woman who sang, "Do You Know the Way to San Jose"? If so, you might want to avoid plunking down any money for psychic predictions from a woman who can't manage to find a major city in California. Better yet, next time you see that commercial, pick up your remote control and let you fingers "Walk on By."

Of course, I realize that without Dionne Warwick's "Psychic Hotline," there exists a major psychic void in your life that will need to be filled. Well, look no further. You see before you (at least you would, if you were a psychic) a psychic talent of unknown proportions (don't ask either, because my proportions are none of your business).

Yes, like many of you, I used to go through life not knowing what was going to happen tomorrow, and not remembering what happened the other night when we went to that restaurant and I drank too much wine and...never mind. It's not important.

What is important is that I have finally realized the true extent of my psychic powers. Why, just the other day, my husband and I spoke at exactly the same time and said exactly the same thing. Now if I were a pessimist, I would assume this meant we'd been married too long. However, I am an optimist, which means that I took this as proof that I must be psychic. Since my family doesn't really appreciate my psychic abilities (for some reason, they never like to hear "I told you so!"), I thought it more appropriate to share my powers with you, the readers.

So here they are, Madame Abear's psychic predictions for the coming year:

ADVERTISING—1995 was definitely the year of the infomercial, and this trend will continue in 1996. For instance, the success of Suzanne Somers' infomercials for "Thighmaster," "Buttmaster" and the soon-to-be-announced "Breastmaster," will spawn a host of imitation products with new spokespersons, such as Tony Danza for "Tush Trimmer" and Al Bundy for "Hooter Hoister."

MUSIC—The rock star formerly known as Prince will become bored with the symbol he

"I'm With Stupid!", which pairs the two superstars for the first time. In the film, Forrest Gump finds out that he has a twin brother, Sump Gump, who was kidnapped at birth by the childless owner of the world's largest chocolate company. However, the best actor Oscar will go to

had substituted for his name in 1995, and will call a press conference to announce that he has chosen a new symbol for his name in 1996, one that makes a stronger statement about his music "!!!". Michael Jackson, after realizing that even marriage to Lisa Marie Presley has not helped his career, will divorce Lisa and marry Yoko Ono, in hopes of becoming the new fourth Beatle.

SPORTS—The Bulls, with their triple threat stars—Jordan, Pippen and Rodman—will easily win their fourth championship, after which Michael will retire from basketball and try his hand at a new sport—figure skating. (Don't worry—he'll be back). The Bears will not make it to the playoffs (it doesn't take a psychic for that one!), at which point no one will care if they do move to Gary, Ind.

MOVIES—Tom Hanks, along with Jim Carrey, ruled Hollywood in both 1994 and 1995, starring in hit after hit. In 1996, the trend will continue with the premiere of John Travolta for "Get Shorty." (I know that's not funny—I just wanted to make a real prediction!)

SCIENCE—Scientists will discover that the controversial film of an alleged alien that has been making the rounds is, in fact, authentic. The identity of the alien will finally be revealed and America will be shocked. (OK, I'll tell you—it's Newt Gingrich. Watch the film and then look at his picture. Scary, isn't it?).

POLITICS—This one is easy. Americans, after considering their alternatives—Old Bob the "I wanna be President and part-time movie critic" Dole, Newt from Neptune, or Clinton the Chronically Confused—will elect Tom Hanks in the country's first win by write-in. (Hey—he couldn't do any worse than Reagan!)

That's all the predictions we have space for today. Happy New Year, and remember to call me at 1-800-YOU-PAY-EVEN-IF-I'M-WRONG for all of your psychic needs in 1996.

Woodworking show returns to Milwaukee in January

Woodworkers, homebuilders, woodturners and carvers—whether beginning, advanced or professional—will have the opportunity to see and test the newest in hand tools, power tools, machinery and supplies, when The Greater Milwaukee Woodworking Show returns to Milwaukee Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 12, 13 and 14, at MECCA-Great Hall, 500 W. Kilbourn Ave., Milwaukee.

The three-day event features exhibitors representing more than 100 different manufacturers from all over the U.S., displaying and demonstrating a wide range of woodworking, turning, carving and finishing materials and supplies, plus seminars and free workshops on dozens of woodworking topics. The show gives attendees the luxury of shopping for all their workshop needs—home or commercial—all under one roof, at special discount prices.

Admission to the show is $7 for adults, with children 12 years and under free. Tickets will be sold at the door. Show hours are Friday, 4 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In-depth, three-hour seminars will be held in conjunction with The Woodworking Show. The following have been scheduled:

Marc Adams started with a shop in his garage in 1983 and turned it into a thriving, multi-million dollar company with 25 employees. Adams' Indiana-based company, Adams Fine Wood Products, specializes in quality custom cabinets and fine furniture. In his comprehensive sessions on "The Business of Woodworking," "Joinery," "Making the Cabinet" and "Cabinet Doors, Drawers and Countertops," Adams will explore many facets of woodworking.

"Table Saw Techniques" and "Router Techniques" by John Pritchard, professional cabinet/furniture maker and instructor, will teach the versatility of the router and table saw. In these seminars, Pritchard will start with basic fundamentals such as what to look for in a router, how to set up and select the right blade and table saw, and advance to joinery techniques, working with jigs, fixtures, router bits and cutting techniques.

Jerry TerHark, author of "Finishing Basics" and former technical consultant for a major manufacturer of finishing products, will teach "Wood Finishing" and "Water Based Finishes." These intensive seminars will cover surface preparation, coloring agents, application techniques, finishes and finishing techniques, problem solving and basic repair.

These sessions, to be held Jan. 12 and 13, were developed especially for the woodworkers in this area in recognition of their generally high level of expertise.

The cost of each three-hour seminar is $20 when registering at the show. Advance registration is also $20 but includes free show admission and can be charged by calling 1-800-826-8257, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Pacific Time.

Thirteen free workshops for the beginning and advanced woodworker will be led by local craftspeople. These topics include "Build a Workbench" by Kevin Clarkowski; "Chip Carving" by Dick Dermody; "Tune Up Your Hand Plane" by Greg Ericson; "Making Wooden Puzzles" by Dave Gillis; "Marquetry" by Peter Kolettis; "Beginning Woodworking" by Bob Krantz; and "Carving in the Round" by Vernon Symons.

Volo Bog offers winter tours

Guided half-mile, one-hour tours of Volo Bog are held each Saturday and Sunday throughout the year. Nature lovers are invited to enjoy the quiet wintry world that is Volo Bog. It is at this time of the year that the presence of the mammal populations is most evident and the birdwatching takes on an unhurried pace. Cross country skiing is also available around the three-mile Tamarack View Loop Trail, when snow is adequate.

Many winter programs are scheduled at Volo Bog, including WinterFest on Jan. 14 and a bluebird workshop on Feb. 4.

For further information on the site, its programs, guided bog tours and trail conditions, phone Volo Bog at (815)344-1294, TDD (217)782-9175.

Film 'Sabrina' improves with age

It's sequel time again and this time the story improves with age and the new stars are as good, if not better, than the originals.

When Audrey Hepburn, William Holden and Humphrey Bogart filmed the first smash hit "Sabrina" 40 years or so ago, it was a disarming love story, slash, comedy. This new version, starring Julia Ormond in Hepburn's role, Harrison Ford taking over Bogart's duties, and TV talk show host Greg Kinnear in Holden's place, it's mainly a romantic love story, fluffy as cotton candy and just as sweet and special.

That's probably because despite the somberness of his role, Ford's innate sex appeal seeps out, making him a much more romantic Linus than Bogart could possibly be.

Here we have the slightly worn plot of the plain chauffeur's daughter, Ormond, falling in love with the handsome playboy, who is the youngest master of the mansion, Kinnear, who doesn't even know she exists. But surprise, surprise! She goes to Paris and returns breathtakingly grown up, beautiful enough to make Kinnear forget his upcoming marriage, and charming enough to bring Ford out of the office and into the sunlight of the living.

Will Kinnear blow the zillion dollar merger his planned marriage will bring for Cinderella? Will the cold-hearted business man, Ford, succeed in breaking them up by making her fall in love with him, all the time letting the dollar signs that run through his blood keep him immune to her charms?

We liked this Sabrina a lot! Ormond has the same classy charm that Hepburn had, sophisticated yet childlike, with a blinding smile that makes her pairable with males younger and older.

Though Ford sometimes

makes Linus a little too stupid socially for the brainy tycoon he is, he is a Linus more people might cheer for.

As far as Kinnear's debut into big time films, he probably steals the show. Could it be that his good looks, exceedingly charming and lovable, yet often comical, personality are the ingredients that could make him a star the first time out? We're sure you'll see a lot more of him on the big screen in the future, providing that's what he wants to do.

We're giving the second "Sabrina" 4.5 stars out of five only because there may be just a titch too much of cotton candy for our tastes.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Enjoy great Chinese food at Yan's Hunan Inn's two locations

Yan's Hunan Inn is "the" place to go when you are craving Chinese food in Lake County.

The restaurants boast 20 specials which include hot and spicy dishes, meatless dishes, and old-time favorites. All specials include a choice of hot and sour, wonton, or egg drop soup, and are served with white rice.

Combination plates feature a choice of soup, and are served with fried rice and an egg roll. Spare ribs, sweet and sour pork or chicken, beef chop suey, chicken or pork egg foo young, and shrimp with lobster sauce are just a few of the featured items.

There is a huge selection of dinner delights to choose from. Several of the dishes are hot and spicy, but Yan's Hunan Inn will alter the spice according to your taste. House dinners cost $15.95 per person and include a glass of house wine, soup, an appetizer, a choice from 13 main entrees, and dessert.

The sliced beef with scallions is absolutely delicious and the flowery chicken is out-of-this-world. Some of the spicy dishes include sliced prawns with garlic sauce, the Hunan beef, lamb with spicy and tangy sauce, and General Ching's chicken. For dessert, try the stuffed honey banana that comes with the meal.

Families are not left out at Yan's Hunan Inn. This great bargain costs $11 per person and includes from one to three main course selections with many sides. Families are offered a choice of soup, appetizers, and for dessert, an almond cookie.

Yan's has a number of house specialties priced from $7.95 to $15.95. The "Sizzling Three Musketeers" includes fresh scallops, sliced prawns and beef served with assorted vegetables prepared in the chef's special sauce and served on a hot plate. The house special beef, one of the spicier selections, is deep fried tender sliced beef that is crispy on the outside and tender in the middle. The beef is sautéed with orange peels, and has a sweet and spicy flavor.

The restaurant also offers more traditional Chinese fare including chow mein, chop suey, egg foo young, lo mein, fried rice, and vegetable dishes. Other favorites include sweet and sour chicken, seafood dishes, pork dishes, and beef and lamb selections.

Yan's Hunan Inn has two locations at 100 N. Milwaukee Avenue in Libertyville (816-6988) and at 911 Lakehurst Road in Waukegan (473-1660). The hours for both locations are 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Great dining at the Backyard Steak Pit

Sit back and relax in the Western Style, candlelit, casual dining atmosphere of the Backyard Steak Pit. Whether it is steaks or seafood, the chefs will prepare your meal to order. And, with the huge number of selections, even the fussiest eater will be delighted. Begin your meal with one of the "Startin' roundups." Topping the lineup is the onion loaf, which is sliced onions deep-fried into a block. Try the out-of-this-world homemade soups, prepared daily.

Backyard Steak Pit, a family owned restaurant since January 1985, is co-owned by Keith and Mike, who are particularly proud of both the steak and seafood entrees, which the restaurant specializes in. They also feature drink specials throughout the week.

The Backyard Steak Pit is home to colossal meals. Any hearty appetite will be satisfied with the colossal sirloin or colossal porterhouse, 32 ounces of top choice beef, or if seafood is your preference, the Backyard Steak Pit lobster tails are bigger than most, averaging 16 to 25 ounces.

All of their steaks are grilled on an authentic charcoal briquette grill. They hand cut top choice of prime beef daily to assure freshness and quality. Steak dinners start at $8.95, and include baked potato, salad bar, Texas or garlic toast. Seafood lovers will be in paradise. The 10-ounce cold water lobster tail served with drawn butter is fresh from ship-to-shore, to you. The filet of cod fish is a loin cut steamed and also served with drawn butter. The menu includes red salmon filet, mahi mahi, and breaded shrimp.

Other treats on the menu include the corral combos, combinations of lobster and steak, shrimp and steak, ribs and chicken, or ribs and steak. For lighter fare, try one of the grub on a slab sandwiches served with French fries, dill pickle spear, and cole slaw. Priced from $4.95 to $5.95, the sandwiches are a real deal. Children under 12 benefit from the children's menu, featuring a variety of delicious meals to choose from.

Wind up your meal with a homemade dessert. A dessert tray is offered to each table with over six selections to choose from. The Backyard Steak Pit has banquet facilities available for parties up to 70 people, with packages available.

The restaurant is open on Mondays from 4 to 10 p.m., Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 5 to 10 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 4 to 11 p.m. and on Sundays from 4 to 9 p.m. The restaurant is conveniently located on 1818 N. Grandwood Drive in Gurnee, just one mile west of Gurnee Mills.

All menu items are available for carry out. Call 356-5200 for more information or for party details.

Sometimes an old-fashioned song

Brings us a thought of you;

Sometimes a flower as we pass along,

Or a sky that is azure blue;

Or a silver lining in the clouds,

When the sun is peeping through.

All of these things, make us think of you.

STATE OF ILLINOIS, COUNTY OF Lake, ss. - In the Circuit Court of Lake County, Nineteenth Judicial Circuit. First Bank Illinois, as successor to Fox Lake State Bank, Plaintiff, vs. Alan C. Harris; Patricia C. Harris, Fairway Estates Association; Nonrecord Claimants; and Unknown Owners, Defendants.
No. 95 CH 902

The requisite affidavit for publication having been filed, notice is hereby given you.

Non-Record Claimants and Unknown Owners, defendants in the above entitled suit, that the said suit has been commenced in the Circuit Court of Lake County, Nineteenth Judicial Circuit by the said plaintiff against you and other defendants, praying for the foreclosure of a certain Mortgage conveying the premises described as follows, to-wit:

PARCEL 1: Lot 35 in Fairway Estates at Antloch Golf Club Unit 2, being a subdivision of part of the Northeast 1/4 of the Northeast 1/4 of Section 25 and part of the South East 1/4 of the South East 1/4 of Section 24, all in Township 46 North, Range 9, East of the Third Principal Meridian, and part of the North 1/2 of the Northwest 1/4 of Section 30 and part of the Southwest 1/4 of Section 19, all in Township 46 North, Range 10, East of the Third Principal Meridian, according to the plat thereof recorded January 4, 1991 as Document 2978802, in Lake County, Illinois.

PARCEL 2: Easement for Ingress and egress for the benefit of Parcel 1 over that part of the Antloch Country Club Final Development Plan recorded September 10, 1975 as Document 1728016 as per court order in Case No. 72MR124 and the Antloch Country Club Final Development Plan Revision No. 1 recorded June 8, 1977 as Document 1841768, as more fully delineated on the plats attached thereto and designated as Ingress and egress parcel and in the grant of easements for general Ingress and egress in the Declaration of Easements, Covenants and Restrictions recorded May 31, 1978 as Document 1920598 described as Harbor Ridge Drive (except those parts released and extinguished on the plat of Fairway Estates at Antloch Golf Club Unit 2 recorded January 4, 1991 as Document 2978802) and Stonegate Drive, in Lake County, Illinois.

PARCEL 3: Easement for Ingress and egress for the benefit of Parcel 1 over that part of Fairway Estates at Antloch Golf Club Unit 2 recorded January 4, 1991 as Document 2978802 described as Nicklaus Way and Palmer Court, as created by said plat, in Lake County, Illinois.

Permanent Index No.: 02-19-307-004

Commonly known as: 24852 Nicklaus Way, Antloch, Illinois 60002, and which said Mortgage was made by Alan C. Harris and Patricia C. Harris, dated November 22, 1994, as Mortgagee, and recorded in the Office of Recorder of Deeds, Lake County, Illinois, as document numbers 3620114 and the present owner of the property is (the above mentioned mortgagor), and for other relief, that summons was duly issued out of said Court against you as provided by law, and that the said suit is now pending.

Now, therefore, unless you, the said above named defendants, file your answer to the Complaint in the said suit or otherwise make your appearance therein, in the office of the Clerk of Circuit Court of Lake County, Nineteenth Judicial Circuit, 18 N. County Street, Waukegan, Illinois, on or before January 22, 1996, default may be entered against you at any time after that day and a judgment entered in accordance with the prayer of said Complaint.

How To Survive
Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I have been unemployed for a short time and have been avidly applying for positions in and out of my field. The problem is I have recently encountered an employer who mentioned that I have written "terminated" as for my reasons for leaving my last three employers. I was shocked when he asked me why I had been fired and that did not look real good on my application. I explained to him that I terminated my employment. The word "terminated" refers to an end. Why would he assume that meant I was fired? R.G. - Libertyville.

A: Dear R.G. So as the employer will understand that there has been no wrong doing on your part, when asked about your reasons for leaving your employers be more specific so as to clarify that you terminated your own employment and for what ever reasons. If you left any of those employers for reasons other than the obvious...upward mobility and such, you should allow yourself the opportunity to explain instead of being read the wrong way. Most importantly remember that there are certain reasons for termination that are a turn off to employers. Examples of these are: Terminated for excessive absenteeism, left due to sexual harassment, involved in a lawsuit with an employer and other reasons for leaving which may be a threat to a future employer. Reasons for leaving...LESS IS MORE! And while you are trying to explain your reason for leaving your former employer...for whatever reason it may be...Never, never, never talk bad about them.
The person interviewing you may see you as a problem waiting to happen. Hope this helps.

Q: Dear...Search: I have noticed that many positions advertised in the newspaper have been asking for a salary history to be sent along with my resume. Since there are many different positions I am willing to pursue at this point I would hate to limit myself on my resume by including a salary that may scare off other potential employers while reviewing my background.
Is it proper for me to include a separate sheet to my resume which would outline my salary history, to be sent only to those requesting such information? J.C.K. - Lake Villa

A: Dear J.C.K. Yes it would be proper and wise. You are absolutely correct in assuming that you may knock yourself out of the picture to someone who may have viewed your salary at $35,000 thinking you are untouchable. When in essence you may be willing to accept a salary of $30,000 which could be workable. Only include salary history if requested.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.
Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

PET OF THE WEEK

Scooter

very accommodating - Scooter will happily roll over on her back so you can pet her tummy! Scooter loves to be loved and she has boundless affection and playful charm to give in return. Scooter is as sweet as can be, and has a delightfully calm easy going personality. She is so well-mannered, she is actually polite, as she responds to you with a devotion that only a special girl like Scooter can give. Scooter is very responsive, wants to be near you and will make an outstanding family pet. It's hard to understand how such a terrific dog has been without a home since March of 1995. Start the New Year right and give Scooter the gift of love for 1996 and ever after.

Cash donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow-up care and much more.

Credit is due

I no longer live in Mundelein, but for the past three years I've gone back to Santa's Cottage. Once again, there was no sign posted for the numerous volunteers who brought Santa's Cottage to life, only PRIDE members. Many of which had nothing to do with the new cottage. Mundelein, if you want to take pride in something, post the names of the wonderful people and businesses that were responsible for Santa's Cottage. One brief posting the original year is a slap in the face. They are the true volunteers—they paid no money for their good deed, unlike PRIDE members who paid their way onto the sign.

Congrats, Al

I just want to say congratulations to Al Salvi, I understand he collected 35,000 signatures in the petition drive for his candidacy in the Senate. It shows tremendous support. Best of luck to you.

Who cares?

The Press seems to have reached an all time low in news coverage. What in God's green earth would cause you to put Sue McNally on the front page? Who cares what she brags and boasts about?

An honest mistake

I'm the person who called about the person who complained about JULIE. I realize now I made a terrible mistake. I told someone I called and they informed me I was incorrect. But I'm guilty of what so many people are guilty of; mouthing off and giving my opinion and treating it as fact. I was wrong. I admit it, and other people ought to take my advice and get your facts straight before you make an error and make comments that aren't true. Luckily, I only did it about JULIE service. Many people call Lip Service and complain about people, give their names, and take the chance to trash them personally. My mistake was an honest one. I won't make it again, but nobody was hurt.

Grant kids great

I would like to say I read the Lip Service column all the time and have something pleasant to say. I'm a senior citizen and I live at Cedar Village in Round Lake Beach. This morning, five young people came to our building, one young man and four young ladies.

They sang Christmas carols and their voices were beautiful. We enjoyed it so much. It makes you feel good that there's young people that are doing something constructive. They said they were from Grant High School. They deserve a lot of credit and praise.

Shame on you

To the people who sawed down our 9-foot spruce from our Wauconda backyard, we are sad, shocked, and disappointed. "Thou shalt not steal!" So says He who brought you Christmas.

Making a quota

Since when does a police officer from Fox Lake or any community who has sworn to protect and serve, stop a 19-year-old for not having brake lights, give him a ticket and then send him on his way to his home in McHenry? He could have caused an accident or injured himself or others. Was he only interested in giving out a ticket? Where's the protection?

Cute, but serious

Last week's story on Antioch High School giving alarm clocks to tardy students may have been cute, but it raises serious questions. If some students are sleeping late and being tardy, shouldn't this be the responsibility of the parents to see that their children are properly prepared for school? Secondly, should we taxpayers be made to pay for such mundane things like alarm clocks for students? I wonder what other things we're paying for that the parents or students themselves should pay for. It's bad enough that the public school system continues to tax and spend and give themselves salary increases every year, when the middle class taxpayers are faced with job loss and pay cuts.

Take note

I'm calling from Grant Township and want to say thank you to Second Federal Savings and Loan. This past weekend they had Santa there to talk with children, they got a full goodie bag, and a picture with Santa. They do things for the community, especially for the children. Take note, other businesses in Fox Lake, Allen Sturges and his staff are a perfect example. Merry Christmas to you all, and thank you very much.

Suspensions

I'm calling from Antioch concerning the issue of Larry Schumacher and the misappropriation of school property from grade school Dist. 34. It's way past time that he was caught up with. All of the employees who worked under him have been suspicious for years of what he was doing, but didn't dare risk their jobs by saying anything.

Who gets bill?

In reference to the power outage on Dec. 10 in Fox Lake, to some people, the electricity might have been back on swiftly. But from Sunday night at 5:30 p.m. to 1:55 a.m. Monday morning (eight and a half hours later) does not seem fast to me. Broken pipes, a cold house, no sleep, being late for work, and many people sick—I would love to know who to bill this to.

Play by the rules

What is it with you jerks who like to get in the right lane in order to pass up the car at the beginning of the line at a stop light, even if they're not turning left? What is it about testosterone that makes the brain stop functioning? Do you think you're a man if you beat the person on your left when the light turns green? If that's what it takes to make you happy, go for it. As for me, I prefer to be safe and follow the rules of the road as they were intended. So, go ahead and pass me. Maybe you'll get to the next light five seconds faster, which will make the accident you will eventually cause worth all. See LIPSERVICE page C21

To the Neanderthal that dangerously sped up to my bumper when I turned west onto Route 173 a couple of weeks ago, I am content with knowing "what comes around, goes around." If your actions were meant to intimidate me, sorry, but it would take quite a bit more than riding my bumper and weaving back and forth. Boy, you really showed me—by providing my laugh for the day. Be reasonable. Leave your testosterone at home when you get behind the wheel.

Look before leaping

To "Beware of scam," my Girl Scout troop is also selling these planners, but we're not from Round Lake Beach. Did you notify the troop before putting your message in Lipservice? I'm sure they wouldn't purposely try to scam you. Maybe they're not aware of the problem. By putting this in Lipservice first, I'm sure you hurt the profits of the troops who are selling legitimate planners. I would like to thank those who bought these planners from their Girl Scouts, and great job to the Girl Scouts and parents. They need all of our support.

Throw the bum out

Throw out the chicken man and his clucking hens. What right have they to raise our real estate taxes 25 percent? Enough is enough!

Nepotism is alive

Hey, way to go, Lake County. You guys throw $104,000 around like it's a nickel. I wonder who's brother-in-law is connected to Grady and Campbell, a Chicago-based company. Couldn't you at least keep it in the county?

Referendum a go

I'm from Fox Lake. Mayor Hamsher and his board will no longer be able to bring riverboat gambling into Fox Lake if the state passed a state-wide referendum, which should read: "Should the General Assembly expand legalized gambling in the state of Illinois by either increasing the number of riverboat casinos or by authorizing additional forms of gambling such as land-based casinos, video lottery terminals, or slot machines?" There will be no dice in Fox Lake, at least until the people of Fox Lake and the state have a choice on whether they want legalized gambling in their town. You will no longer be able to shove it down our throats.

No handshake

I was at a Christmas party in Hainesville last week and met an old friend who was just retired after 24 years on the Hainesville village board, whose wife was also a police commissioner. He tells me he didn't even get a handshake from the mayor, whom he thought was a friend. Nice work, George, you did it again!

Just one more

An alcoholic says one beer is not going to hurt you. Well, after 19 years, one more beer did hurt. It hurt his parents, his brothers, and his sisters, his in-laws, his four children, and mostly hurt his wife, who thought she had a lifelong best friend and husband. Do you know he'll never know this, because he's still having that one more beer? Finally, letting go.

Thinking of us

It is wonderful that the village of Grayslake plans to build a pool and community center. That's one reason why we have such a wonderful mayor in Pat Carey and the board of trustees. They think of their community.

Mail your bills

To all the citizens of Warner Shores subdivision, aren't we happy we let Jim Morgan talk us into turning our roads over to the township's Jim Field? Broken axles, shocks, tie rods, and don't forget the increased taxes. Send all your bills for your car repairs to Jim Morgan.

Sometimes your wish actually gets Grant-ed

You get a little jaded as you get older. Sometimes it takes a child to remind you that in this cynical world there is still excitement to be found.

That point was driven home to me recently by a five-year-old who happens also to be my daughter. For weeks Sara had been begging me to take her to a girls basketball game (her aunts played in high school and college, and she worships her aunts). Finally, I relented.

After a decade behind the scorer's bench at literally thousands of prep sporting events, I don't really get excited any more — enthusiasm from a sports writer can be construed as favoritism, right or wrong, so I limit my observations to defensive schemes, shooting percentages and technical matters pertaining to the game.

Not so my daughter.

Each basket was to her a cause for celebration, no matter which team made it. Every sideline huddle prompted the question "Daddy, what do you think they're talking about?" Each foul — the ones she recognized as fouls, at any rate — brought a gasp.

Over the course of the game she became enthralled with Grant High School Coach Stephanie Romic. In her limited vocabulary, the coach was simply "cool," which from her is the ultimate compliment. Still, I was taken aback when she asked me after the game if I could get the coach to autograph her program.

I approached the coach with the odd request, half expecting her to brand me a weirdo and send me on my way. Instead she smiled and consented. Coach Romic, however, went beyond the call.

She herded her team back into the gym, where they all signed the program, each taking time to talk to a little girl they didn't know. One of the Grant team mothers was carrying a camera, and she was employed to snap a picture of the team with my daughter, promising her a print went they were developed.

As the Grant ladies filed out, each took the time to high-five Sara, if the term "high five" can apply to someone only slightly more than three feet tall.

The game had run late, it was cold out and it was a school night — I'm sure these girls and their coach would have been content to jump on the bus and go home. But they took the time to show some kindness to a stranger, to make a game that was to them See RAMAGE page C23

Get caught outdoors at Fishing Derby

Brave the cold and drop a line beneath the frozen surface of 74-acre Sterling Lake in Van Patten Woods Forest Preserve near Wadsworth. Anglers of all ages and abilities will try their luck at winning cash and prizes at the Third Annual Sterling Lake Ice Fishing Derby on Saturday, Jan. 6, from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Sunday, Jan. 7, from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Sponsored by Chandler's Boat & Bait, Inc., located on the western shore of Sterling Lake, one fee of $5 ($3 for ages 4 and under), covers both days.

Anglers have the chance to win up to $250 in cash for the largest fish caught during the two-day derby. Prizes, which include ice fishing gear, rod and reel, and tackle, will be awarded for the largest fish caught in a variety of categories.

Registration for the Ice Fishing Derby is required and pre-registration is encouraged by calling Chandler's at 526-8217. Registration and the rental of heaters, lanterns, augers and tents will begin at 6 a.m., both days. Rental supplies are limited, so participants needing ice fishing equipment should plan to arrive early.

The entrance to Van Patten Woods Forest Preserve is located on Route 173, just east of Route 41 near Wadsworth. For more information, call Chandler's Boat & Bait, Inc. at 526-8217. For ice conditions the day of the derby, call the Lake County Forest Preserve's 24-hour Winter Sports Hotline at 367-3676, ext. 165.

Feel the great outdoors at boat, sports, and RV show

More than 900 boats and personal watercraft and 300 recreational vehicles from over 200 different manufacturers will fill two floors of the East Building of McCormick Place from Jan. 3-7. The show gives outdoor enthusiasts the Midwest's biggest selection under one roof and gives visitors the chance to browse the floor for the perfect summer recreational vehicle.

Tastes ranging from compact to the luxurious will be accommodated at the show, which features everything from a six-foot personal watercraft to a 50-foot Carver motor yacht. Jet boats, fishing boats, sport boats, sail boats, pontoon boats, houseboats, and high performance boats of every description will be on display along with trailers, motors, and a wide variety of marine accessories.

Campers and on-the-road travelers will be interested in the recreational vehicle display which features motorhomes, van conversions, folding camping trailers and truck campers.

Special attractions

The 1996 Chicago Boat, Sports and RV Show offers a variety of activities for all ages and interests. Fishing enthusiasts can try their hand at the casting pond, where professional angler Tony Fidanzo will be on hand to offer his personal tips for success. The person with the most accurate daily cast will receive a rod and reel package and two complimentary tickets for the final cast-off held on the last day of the show.

Fishing seminars for anglers of all levels will be held throughout the show.

New to the show this year is the SportFishin' Simulator, which gives the operator an actual fishing experience through virtual reality. While holding a rod connected to a black box on the floor, an angler can watch his or her fish on a video screen, listen to the actual sounds of the reel, and watch as the fish fights the hook and is eventually brought to the net. The 90-second video program teaches everything from how to hold the rod, keeping the tip up, line tension and reeling in the catch.

Eight-time World Freestyle

Water-Ski Champion Dave "Da Dog" Rinehart will host MasterCraft Ski Clinics Friday night and Saturday and Sunday afternoons on the seminar stage. Talking from personal experience, he imparts wisdom and instruction on slalom and two ski water-skiing as well as the history of the sport. Seminar attendees can enter a drawing for two driving clinics for a weekend in June with a MasterCraft dealer approved by the American Water Ski Association.

A special Boating Basics Seminar will be held on Saturday, Jan. 6 from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Conducted by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, the seminar highlights safety in flotation devices, flares and fire extinguishers. A representative will also explain changes in existing federal and state laws as well as new legislation. Seminar attendees will receive a 72-page "Boating Basics" manual.

Special day for women

For the first time in its 66-year history, the Chicago Boat, Sports and RV Show will include a "Women in Boating Day" on Jan. 4. Seminars will include: how to finance a boat or RV; how to handle or launch a boat; tips for driving and parking an RV; and vacation destinations for boaters and RV owners.

Seminar attendees can register to win an action-packed Learn to Sail Vacation, provided by Sea Sense, The Women's Sailing and Powerboat School. In addition, complimentary copies of the new magazine, "Boating for Women," will be distributed every day of the show. Women receive a $2 discount for Women in Boating Day when they present a coupon redeemed from the Chicago Tribune, Chicago Sun-Times or "Boating for Women" magazine.

Kids' fare

Kids can get a taste of the big outdoors at the popular Huck Finn Trout Pond, stocked with more than 1,400 pounds of trout. Representatives from the Illinois Wildlife Federation will be on hand to teach children basic fishing techniques and skills. This family event is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

Kids can also race the radio controlled model boat or race radio controlled Jeeps on the track around the pond. The child with the best time each day will win a radio controlled boat from Stanton Hobby Shop in Chicago. Children are also welcome at the Casting Pond where they can cast off right next to mom and dad.

Both kids and their parents can take a break from the show floor for a few minutes and take a ride on the Iwerks "Reactor," presented by AT&T TrueVoice. This 18-passenger state-of-the-art motion simulator theatre uses vertical and roll movements which keep viewers in constant synchronized motion with the projected image.

Sponsor activities

Several show sponsors are offering prizes for show visitors. Sea-Doo will be giving away a personal watercraft valued at $6,000 on Sunday. Continental Airlines will award a free airline ticket, a value up to $500, every three hours of the show.

Shoppers' paradise

Anyone purchasing a boat at the show will receive a complimentary one-year membership in BOAT/U.S. (Boat Owners Association of the United States). The boat purchaser must stop by the BOAT/U.S. booth and present a signed and dated sales contract. BOAT/U.S. is the nation's largest organization of recreational boat owners, offering its members over 25 consumer services, such as discounts on boating gear, group-rate boating insurance and boat loans.

Shoppers looking for nautical clothing, jewelry, and marine accessories of all types and descriptions can find what they're looking for among the 150 retail booths. Dinghies, sirens, radarsystems, cellular phones, heating and air conditioning systems, metal polishes, water skis, pier stations and outboard motors are just some of the items for sale.

The 1996 Chicago Boat, Sports and RV Show runs from Jan. 3-7. Hours are Wednesday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The show is affordable at $7 for adults and children up to 12 years of age are free when accompanied by an adult. One-dollar discount coupons are available at participating boat and RV dealerships.

The Chicago Boat, Sports & RV Show is produced by the National Marine Manufacturers Association, the principal trade association of the recreational marine industry. Show sponsors include: Chicago Tribune, First USA bank cards, MasterCraft Boats, Continental Airlines, Miller Brewing Company and Jeep Grand Cherokee.

For further information about the show, call Susan Lind at (312) 946-6262.

Join Munson Ski & Inboard Water Sports at the Chicago Boat Show

The festivity of the season continues into the new year at McCormick Place where the 66th annual Chicago Boat, Sports and RV Show will be held Jan. 3 to 7. Plan on attending the largest boat show in the midwest where outdoor enthusiasts will see over 900 boats and 300 recreational vehicles all under one roof. The show is a convenient and affordable way to shop for the newest and best boats.

Munson Ski & Inboard Water Sports, the number one Malibu dealer in the midwest, will display all the new Malibu boats at spectacular boat show prices. Special boat show financing will be available through Munson Ski & Inboard Water Sports including a "no payments until spring" special.

See Munson Ski & Inboard Water Sports booths at the Chicago Boat Show. Show times are Wednesday, Jan. 3, through Friday, Jan. 5, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, Jan. 6, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, Jan. 8, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

For more information, call Munson Ski & Inboard Water Sports at (815)363-5400.

Conference champs

The Spring Grove Eagles soccer team finished the 1995 campaign with an unblemished 8-0 record and the first-place trophy in the Des Plaines-Fox Valley Conference. Coach Mick Adams credits his team's "hustle and team effort" as the driving force behind the squad's success. Team members included captains Kendal Krol and Chris Beyer. Other Eagles include: Cody Anderson, Kelly Beyer, Adam Connerty, Eric Durkin, Pat Koffler, Jon Mmak, Justin Plwko, David Weldner, Scott Hendricks, Eric Skala, Kelly Beyer, Kevin Hoff, Chris Marzano, Larry Lord, Bryan Attemeler, Matt Chesney, Doug Griffin, Felipe Infante, Bryan Jobst, Nick Louis, Mike Rizzo, Ryan Schinkowsky and Brad Smith. — Submitted photo.

Ramage

They say athletics builds character, and this night I was convinced that theory has merit.

As acts of kindness go, what the Grant team did may seem a small thing. But in these days when a good many adults see in every teenager a frightful gang banger, a rude punk or a potential teen pregnancy, I believe we should take the time to recognize what these youngsters accomplish.

To an extent, we do, but honor rolls and all-conference lists don't cover it all. There are still plenty of kids out there who respect others, who lead deeply spiritual lives, who have the work ethic and the desire to make a difference in an increasingly confusing world.

My experience with the Grant girls made me look at the future with a little more optimism. And that is no little thing.

Businesses support ADA with equal treatment, access

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

When business and public entities were first faced with deadlines for compliance with the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act, some faced the prospect with less than outright enthusiasm.

A poll conducted by the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities in October, however, indicated that 73 percent of the industries are hiring disabled persons. Furthermore, the survey also showed 47 percent of human resource managers in manufacturing at Midwest/West locations felt the ADA has made a positive impact on American business.

The results were obtained from a random sampling of 300 CEOs and human resource managers in Fortune 500 companies dealing in manufacturing, technology and communications.

Businesses with 25 or more employees were required to comply in July 1992, those with 15 to 24 workers in 1994. Qualified individuals cannot be discriminated against because of a disability and employers must provide "reasonable accommodations." The last requirement did present some problems for employers, said Lake County Chamber of Commerce President Charles Isely.

"When they put out all the requirements they didn't give enough lead time for making the changes," he said.

As far as support, he said, Lake County business leaders realize the value of the legislation.

"They think it makes sense," he said. "The people that have some type of disability want to prove themselves and they work a little harder."

Cliff Van Dyke at the Lake County Human Resources Dept. said that although some positions do have constraints, those are identified.

"We encourage everyone who feels they have the credentials to complete," he said. "The [disabled] folks we have contribute as fully as their colleagues. We feel they're valuable as employees."

The Lake County Center for Independent Living provides social services for people with disabilities. Officials there have a close up view of how hard companies have tried to comply with ADA requirements.

"If a business is committed to provide equal access and hiring people with disabilities, they have demonstrated that," said director Lori Clark. "Companies and employers that are following the law are seeing it as a benefit to bring in employees who are an asset."

Although changes can be seen from the impact of the legislation, there is still work to be done, said Clark.

"It's easier than people [companies] thought it would be," she said. "It's as much a benefit to them as it is to the employees."

Two municipalities that have made a significant strides in providing accessibility, said Clark, are Libertyville and Mundelein.

"Libertyville has made an enormous effort to ensure their buildings are accessible," she said.

Renovations to the current village hall and civic center included many amenities for disabled persons. The Cook Home is also being altered to allow access.

Remodeling at Mickey Finn's in Libertyville included an elevator to the second floor restaurant.

Mundelein did not have the funds to renovate their village hall so instead they installed a mobile annex with a ramp.

"It was very creative," said Clark. "It's a learning process for all businesses and employers."

Waukegan potter molds a career in the arts

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

When Paula Jean Pederson took a "Play with Clay" class at the College of Lake County more than 15 years ago, she had no idea the impulse would result in a professional art career.

New Century Clayworks Inc. studio and gallery has opened its doors in Gurnee and Pederson will begin a busy class schedule Jan. 8. The program will be sponsored in part by the David Adler Cultural Center, where Pederson taught for four years. The program was closed down because the space there was not entirely suitable for a studio.

"They really wanted to have a clay program," said Pederson. "This way they still get to be associated with a clay program for their members."

She was able to purchase some of the Adler equipment and began to search for a suitable site.

"It was hard finding the right kind of place to do clay," she said. "It's so messy."

She discovered the perfect location in a Gurnee business center at 83 Ambrogio Dr. The office space in front is just right for her gallery and the large warehouse in back makes a grand studio.

Pederson will offer classes for both children and adults. Nine potters' wheels—three "kick" (manual) and six electric will be available for adults students. Children will be doing mostly hand building, she said, making pinch pots, coil pots and sculptures from slabs of clay. All classes will be small, to allow for individual attention.

"Working with clay is not an instant craft," said Pederson. "It takes a certain amount of skill to manipulate the clay. It's like learning a musical instrument, and learning to use the muscles in a whole different way."

After Pederson took that first class, she sought out other learning opportunities and attended workshops by famous potters. When she felt it was time to start working on her own, she set up a studio in her home. She began to offer her works at art fairs during the summer and displaying her creations at galleries. She currently has an exhibit at the New Millennium Gallery in Libertyville.

At Adler she had about 40 students, many of them have been waiting anxiously for her new program to begin. Others have heard of the classes by word of mouth or from community calendars and special mailings.

Adult classes will begin Jan. 8, and are available for either eight ($130) or twelve ($195) weeks. The two-hour classes are scheduled at 7 p.m. Monday and Thursday, 10 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday. A teen class is offered at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Children's classes will run for 90 minutes and be kept to a maximum of eight students for the eight-week session ($85). Class times are 4 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. Saturday for students 7 to 10 years old, 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and 10:30 a.m. Saturday for those 11 to 13.

Pederson will also conduct special classes for scout troops and youth groups by arrangement. To register by phone or for more information call 625-1799. Registration is also available through the David Adler Cultural Arts Center at 367-0707.

Registration of business brokers begins with the start of New Year

A new consumer protection law that takes effect Jan. 1 requires all business brokers, loan brokers and people offering business opportunity sales to register with the state, Secretary of State George H. Ryan said.

To help businesses with the transition to the new rules, Ryan has mailed out more than 150 informational packets to businesses in Illinois which potentially could fall under the statute.

The new law, Public Act 89-209, creates three new categories which require individuals or businesses to register with the Secretary of State Dept. of Securities:

- Any person or company that brokers the sale of a business entity between two or more parties.
- Any person or firm that offers to procure a loan for a customer in exchange for an advance fee.

• Any person or company offering business opportunities sales in Illinois.

"This law is intended to provide necessary consumer safeguards by regulating the firms or individuals engaged in these financial transactions with Illinois consumers," Ryan said.

"This law fills a current gap in the regulatory process and subjects these individuals to the same regulation imposed on other financial professionals dealing with the public," he added.

"Consumers need to be assured that they are dealing with registered professionals who have the background and the experience in this area and not swindlers and fly-by-night con artists."

Illinois joins 20 other states that already regulate business brokers. The new law was approved by the General Assembly last spring as Senate Bill 1208 and was signed last summer by Gov. Jim Edgar.

The Secretary of State Dept. of Securities is responsible for registering individuals and business in Illinois that sell securities, as well as the securities offerings. In fiscal year 1995, the department registered 99,131 broker dealers, salespersons and investment advisors.

Complete information about the new registration requirements for business brokers, loan brokers and business opportunity sales can be obtained from the Secretary of State Dept. of Securities at 1-800-628-7937.

Saddlewood Associates win key awards

Saddlewood Associates has won two awards in the prestigious 1995 Annual Key Award competition sponsored by the Home Builders Assn. of Greater Chicago.

Northbrook-based Saddlewood Associates, one of the James Companies of Illinois, was honored in the Architectural Design competition for its Victoria model, and in the interior merchandising category for its Winchester model. Both won bronze prizes.

They are among 10 semi-custom models being offered at Saddlewood, a community of 81 affordable luxury homes in northwest suburban Wauconda.

"We and our architect and interior designer are happy that the Home Builders' Association honored The Victoria and The Winchester as among the best in the housing industry this year," notes Saddlewood Project Manager Merrily James. She adds:

"It is especially gratifying that a jury of our peers presented the awards. This is high praise for our efforts to provide top-quality detached single-family housing at Saddlewood."

Also being offered is a computer-assisted customizing program that permits changes and/or additions such as enlarging rooms such as the family room or kitchen, three-car garages, window designs, fireplaces, skylights, bay windows, vaulted and tray ceilings and nine-foot, first-floor ceiling heights. Buyers can also customize by adding porches, dormers, bays and leaded glass side-lights at the front entry.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Motorola helps out Santa

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS—On Dec. 20, Santa climbed into his blue and white semi and made his way to the second annual Motorola "Toys for Tots" shopping spree at Toys R Us. When he arrived at the toy store in Arlington Heights, Santa led a small army of Motorola employees on a company-funded shopping spree to benefit economically disadvantaged children in the Chicago area. Coordinated by the Cellular Subscriber Group in Libertyville, employees from Arlington Heights, Grayslake and Schaumburg facilities donated toys in a month-long toy drive. For each donated toy, Motorola made a cash contribution to be spent as the finale to their holiday donation program. This year Motorola employees donated over 5,000 toys and spent more than $5,000 at the shopping spree.

Ameritech raises dividend

CHICAGO—The board of directors raised Ameritech's quarterly dividend 6 percent to 53 cents per share, or $2.12 on an annual basis. At 6 percent, this is the largest dividend increase since 1991 from Ameritech or any of the other six regional communications companies. The increase is the company's 12th consecutive dividend increase in 12 years, since Ameritech became an independent company in 1984. The fourth quarter dividend, Ameritech's 49th consecutive dividend, is payable Feb. 1 to shareowners of record Dec. 29.

Westfield offers distinctive homes

LINDENHURST—Westfield Homes offers townhomes for many lifestyles. Country Place in Lindenhurst offers a selection of distinctive townhome designs for buyers with a variety of lifestyle needs. Country Place is a 200-acre, master-planned community being developed by Westfield Homes. Country Place offers 153 maintenance-free, townhome-style condominiums, priced from $111,900 to $129,000 and 92 fee-simple Village Homes, priced from $128,900 to $148,900. Single-family homes will be built in the community in a later phase. Seven model homes are under construction and scheduled to open in March.

Restaurant brewery to open

A new concept for a full service restaurant and on site brewery called Flatlander's Restaurant and Brewery will be a highlight of the new Village Green of Lincolnshire.

Flatlander's dining room will have seating for 250 people enjoying freshly prepared food from the hearth, handcrafted beer brewed on site, and premium wines and spirits. In addition, the Tap Room accentuated by a view of the brewhouse and a vaulted ceiling will have 125 seats.

The interior and exterior of the 14,500 square foot building will encompass prairie architecture, emphasizing the familiar landscape and hard working values of the midwest.

The Village Green is located in the Half Day area where the Village of Lincolnshire, has provided for development of a new and interesting Towncenter on Milwaukee Avenue, Olde Half Day Road and Route 45 just north of Route 22. This site will have 117,000 square feet of space under roof.

Microbix and Mallinckrodt announce collaboration

Microbix Biosystems Inc. and Mallinckrodt Veterinary, Inc. announced they have reached an agreement which will provide Microbix with funding to pursue the research and development of its novel non-replicative recombinant rabies vaccines. Mallinckrodt Veterinary, Inc. is a division of the Mallinckrodt Group Inc.

Under the terms of the agreement, Mallinckrodt Veterinary, Inc. has provided Microbix with an initial funding fee and will provide additional milestone-based support to pursue the continued research, development and registration of these vaccines. Following the satisfactory completion of the research and development program, both parties have agreed to enter into a royalty bearing worldwide licensing agreement for the use of the rabies vaccine and Microbix will retain a portion of the manufacturing rights for the product.

The unique properties of the recombinant vaccine is anticipated to offer significant advantages in terms of cost of production, safety and flexibility in administration. Paul D. Cottone, President and CEO of Mallinckrodt Veterinary, Inc. said, "This technology provides an excellent opportunity to develop a product which will better meet the needs of our customers for rabies prevention, through improved efficacy, routes of administration, and its use in multiple species."

Rates lowered for Illinois work comp insurance pool

Gov. Jim Edgar announced the cost of insurance purchased through the Illinois Workers Compensation Assigned Risk Plan will decrease by an overall average of 13.6 percent next year, the largest decrease in rates for high-risk workers' compensation insurance in the country.

The decrease, officially approved by Insurance Director Mark Boozell, is expected to reduce premiums paid by Illinois manufacturers and businesses by $30 million.

The new rates will take effect Jan. 1 for both new and renewal business.

"I am pleased that insurance rates will be lower for Illinois employers who are unable to buy workers' compensation coverage through the voluntary insurance market," the governor said. "This decrease reduces the cost of doing business in Illinois and allows businessmen and women to reinvest that savings in their companies, their workforce and our economy."

The Assigned Risk Plan serves high-risk companies and accounts for about 11 percent of the total Illinois workers compensation insurance market.

The National Council on Compensation Insurance (NCCI), which administers the pool, filed the rate request on behalf of the plan's approximately 300 member companies.

The rate decrease is due in part to lower trends in medical and indemnity costs. "We hope those trends continue so that the Illinois market remains stable for small business and high risk enterprises that rely on the plan for their workers compensation insurance," Boozell said.

Boozell said that another factor in lowering the rates is a state Insurance Department guideline that assigned risk rates be no more than 20 percent higher than the prevailing rates charged by the voluntary market.

"NCCI has also recommended a 13.6 percent decrease for voluntary rates," Boozell said, "but Illinois' open-competition laws allow companies to deviate above or below that amount. Each insurer must file its proposed rate with the department on an individual basis, and, as a result, voluntary rates may go down across the board as they will in the Assigned Risk Plan."

Mortgage information on Internet

Mortgage Market Information Services, Inc. (MMIS), the company that brings home-finance information to more than 300 local and daily newspapers nationally, announced that it will make this information available to computer users everywhere. Villa Park based MMIS now will deliver local mortgage rate information on a national scale via the Internet World Wide Web.

MMIS is no newcomer to the computer information age however. For years MMIS has been operating Mortgage Market On-line, using state-of-the-art computer technology to provide up-to-date mortgage information to consumers. The interactive computer system has allowed the public to use their home computers to dial in and acquire current mortgage rates for the Chicago area, as well as financial and real estate information.

According to James R. DeBoth, MMIS president, Mortgage Market On-Line has been successfully operating as a local computer bulletin board in the Chicago market for five years. "Consumers demand a forum where they can quickly and easily access mortgage information," said DeBoth, who has been providing this information for nearly a decade. He explained that the service of reporting mortgage rates has evolved from simple lists of a few lenders to today's detailed rate guides. As result, the format of mortgage rate reporting has evolved, as well.

The next logical step for MMIS was to provide this computerized access on a national scale. "With the rapid growth of lenders offering home financing on a national basis, it became necessary to find a medium that would provide consumers with the most timely list of lenders and programs," said DeBoth. "By using the latest technology, the internet, we are able to bring them up-to-the-minute lender information for most regions of the United States."

Accessing this "next generation mortgage guide" is simple, said DeBoth. Using any major on-line service (America On-Line, Prodigy, CompuServe, etc.), set your World Wide Web browser to <http://www/interest.com>. From there, click on the home page item that meets your needs—mortgage rates, the mortgage lender directory or timely articles regarding home financing.

"If you choose mortgage rates, for instance, you'll be presented with a map of the United States," explained DeBoth. "Simply click on your state, then select a loan program that interests you, and a list of lenders that are quoting rates for that program will appear on your screen."

Interested individuals also can access financial news, Jim DeBoth's syndicated home finance column, a mortgage pre-qualifier including amortization schedule, plus a national lender database.

"By offering diverse information from across the country, MMIS' internet presence has created a forum that will stimulate competition among lenders," said Keith Kubik, market director for MMIS. "Since financial information is updated daily, consumers, as well as other lending institutions, will be aware of what is occurring in the marketplace as soon as it happens. This is sure to benefit consumers, as lenders compete with each other for their business."

He added that computerized mortgage information offers numerous advantages. "Not only are consumers presented with a wide variety of choices regarding home financing, they can browse from the convenience of their own home," said Tyna Lewandowski, MMIS sales manager. "Someone moving from out of state can find a lender and current mortgage rates without ever leaving the house."

For information, contact Keith Kubik at 1(800)509-4363 or visit the MMIS Home Page on the internet at <http://www/interest.com>.

Social Security representatives available 12 hours a day

Social Security representatives are now available to answer questions 12 hours a day from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Just dial 1(800)772-1213. The best time to call is after the first week of the month if your business is not urgent.

If you are calling to request informational pamphlets, a Social Security card, or a "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate" call after 7 p.m. when you can leave your request on the answering machine.

There are at least five times when you should contact Social Security: 1. To apply for a Social Security number or to replace a lost card. 2. To change your name when you marry. 3. To request an earnings and benefit estimate statement every three years. 4. To correct an error on your earnings and benefit statement. 5. To inquire about applying for benefits if someone in your family dies, becomes disabled, has kidney failure, or is within three months of age 62.

If your retirement plans include travel, be sure to sign up for direct deposit of your Social Security checks. This will give you the peace of mind of knowing that no matter where you are in the world, your Social Security payment is safe at home in your financial institution. If planning to travel outside the United States for more than 30 days, call the Social Security office for more information. Ask for the booklet "Your Social Security Checks While You Are Outside the USA."

Young people often don't realize that Social Security is not just something that pays a monthly check to their grandparents. Social Security protects workers of all ages with a package of disability and survivors benefits.

In fact, for a young worker with a family, earning an average income, the value of Social Security's protection is equal to a life insurance policy of about $300,000 and a disability policy of about $250,000. Young people should find out how much their families would receive from Social Security if they died or became disabled. Call 1(800)772-1213 to request a "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement."

You don't have to be retired to collect Social Security retirement benefits. There is, however, an earnings limit for people under age 70 who continue to work while receiving Social Security benefits. The 1995 limit is $8,160 if you are under ages 65 and $11,280 if you are 65 to 69. Social Security withholds $1 for every $2 earned over the limit if you are under age 65; and $1 for every $3 earned over the limit if you are 65 to 69. You must give Social Security an estimate of your earnings if you will earn over your limit. Otherwise, you could become overpaid and have to refund money to Social Security at the end of the year.

Lake Forest Hospital opens MRI facility

Lake Forest Hospital now offers magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) at its new location within the hospital's radiology department. This central location makes the facility more accessible for both inpatients and outpatients. "Physicians can now refer their patients to one convenient location without them (patients) having to travel long distances," notes Ronald E. DeBruin, M.D., chairman of radiology.

This technological enhancement to Lake Forest Hospital's radiology services ensures that the hospital can provide all imaging services (C.T., X-ray, Ultrasound, Nuclear Medicine and MRI). The MRI facility opened in late November.

"We are excited about bringing the latest in state-of-the-art diagnostic technology to not only Lake Forest but also to the extended communities we serve," says DeBruin.

The layout of the hospital's MRI is such that it provides a homey, patient-friendly environment where patients can relax and be comfortable with expert technologists available at all times.

Lake Forest Hospital has obtained the Siemens Magnetom Vision—the premier MRI system with the most advanced technology available. The Magnetom is designed to give physicians clear, extremely accurate images for an exact diagnosis. This major innovation includes high resolution imaging which can virtually eliminate the need for a second scan. In addition, the Magnetom can be upgraded to handle new applications as needs change.

To find out more about Lake Forest Hospital's MRI services, call the office at 234-5600, ext. 6165.

Caution needed when taking any medicines

As people age, taking medications can become a part of their everyday lives. But what should older adults know about the medications they take?

"There are really four things to know about any medication you are taking," John Yoder, director of the pharmacy at Victory Memorial Hospital, said. "You should know the name of the medicine, why you are taking it, how to take it and any possible side effects."

The name of the medication is on the bottle, but the name and dosage should also be written somewhere else in the case the prescription bottle is lost. People who take several prescriptions or who have difficulty remembering the name of a medication may find it useful to keep a list of the medications they take in their purse or wallet. If medication is transferred to another container, that container should be properly labeled. Names of medications or actual bottles should always be brought to the emergency department if someone is being treated there.

"It is important to tell your physician about all the medicines you are taking, even non-prescription medications or vitamins," Mohammed Siddique, MD, board certified in Internal Medicine, said. "Medications can react differently in the body if you are taking other medicines. They also might not be as effective. A person needs to have a clear understanding of what symptoms the medication will relieve and in what amount of time. That way he can tell if it is working."

It is also important to take medicines as prescribed. Some medications must be taken with or without food or water, at a certain time of day, or in combination with another medicine. It is important to keep track of when a medication is taken, how much was taken and with what it was taken.

Liz Pesslick, speech therapist at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center in Udenhurst, works with older adults on memory strategies to help them remember when to take medicines.

"Many older adults have trouble keeping track of all the different medications they take, especially if medicines are taken at different times," Pesslick said. "Often older adults may need to develop memory strategies to make sure medications are taken properly."

For example, a person who takes one heart medication once a day, another twice a day and a diuretic every other day could easily mix up which medication needs to be taken when.

"There are charts, labeled pill boxes, rhymes, organizational methods and other games that can help a person remember which medicine needs to be taken when," Pesslick said.

Once a strategy for remembering to take medicine is developed, that schedule must be followed.

"Many people stop taking medicines when they feel better or they ration it to make a prescription last longer," Dr. Siddique said.

"But your doctor has written the prescription specifically for you based on your medical history and problem. If you have concerns about whether or not you should still be taking a medication, call your physician, don't just stop taking it."

Recognizing side effects and telling your physician about them is also a concern, especially if someone is taking more than one medicine.

"Often an older patient will have side effects but not say anything for months," Siddique said. "Sometimes these effects can't be helped, but other times a simple adjustment in the prescription will help relieve any side effects."

FREE Report Reveals The 10 Biggest Mistakes Retirees Make And How To Avoid Them!

Northbrook, IL - A local retirement expert has just published a report that explains the 10 biggest mistakes people make when they retire, and how to avoid them.

He cited an example of a couple who took their retirement money and invested almost all of it into "risk free" things, and had to eventually move in with their children because they literally ran out of money.

Another woman had to pay over $29,000 in needless income taxes because she made a seemingly small mistake with the choices she made at retirement. Obviously, the mistake wasn't so small.

Retirement is a point in your life that doesn't allow the luxury of time to make up for mistakes. Once you've reached that age, you have little or no room for "trial and error" methods of taking care of your money.

Accordingly, the retirement expert has prepared a FREE report called, "The Ten Biggest Mistakes People Make When Retiring, And How To Avoid Them And How To Stop Using "Trial And Error" As Your Main Technique Of Retirement Financial Management.

The report is available by calling 1-800-640-5530 for a FREE recorded message.

MSAA offers support to MS patients

According to officials from the Multiple Sclerosis Assn. of America, MS is the most common neurological disorder among young adults, striking as many as 500,000 Americans. The Association notes that although there is no known cause or cure for MS, researchers have identified many interesting trends and statistics.

Most patients are diagnosed with MS between the ages of 20 and 40, with women twice as likely to develop the disease than men. The farther a person lives north or south of the equator during his or her first 15 years increases his or her odds of developing MS later in life. Those who spend their childhood in the northern half of the U.S. have three times the risk of developing MS as those in the southern half.

Although MS does not qualify as being hereditary, genetic susceptibility does have much support. On the average, an American has a 0.1 percent chance of developing MS. For family members of an MS patient, the risk increases to between 2 percent and 5 percent. The risk becomes 26 percent for those with an identical twin brother or sister with MS. The highest incidence of MS occurs in the wealthiest, most sterile countries. Poorer, less sanitary countries have the lowest percentage of patients. Regardless of where they live, certain groups of people appear to be immune to MS. Gypsies and Eskimos are two such groups.

With its trademark attacks and remissions, multiple sclerosis is a disease which injures the central nervous system (CNS), disrupting the smooth and efficient flow of nerve impulses which keep the body functioning. During an MS attack, inflammation occurs in various areas of the CNS causing the loss of the myelin (insulation) coating around the nerves. When myelin is damaged, messages from the brain short circuit and arrive at their destination late, confused or not at all.

Typical symptoms of MS include difficulties in vision, sensation, coordination, strength and cognitive processes. The most common form of MS, relapsing/progressive, is a combination of fairly frequent attacks and remissions which often lead to a steady decline in a person's physical ability.

Now entering its 26th year of service, MSAA is a national, nonprofit organization providing direct patient care programs for those with MS. Services include a toll-free hotline, peer counseling, the free loan of therapeutic equipment, educational materials, support groups, bimonthly newsletter, barrier-free housing and symptom management programs. For more information on MS or the services of MSAA, call 1-(800)-833-4672.

Program breathes life into customer service

"Help, I can't breathe," was the most frequently heard cry at DependiCare Home Health, Inc. during an experiment not long ago.

As part of an innovative program to create empathy for consumer needs, the home health-care company's respiratory specialists arranged for all of its employees to learn what it's like to be a customer in their business.

Each employee was asked to take two hours to participate in a Respiratory Olympics during National Respiratory Care Week to simulate being a patient using oxygen equipment. In the first activity, the employees walked or ran around DependiCare's warehouse until they were winded.

"Our patients are always out of breath and we wanted to remind employees what that felt like," said Barbara Schragel, respiratory specialist. DependiCare supplies oxygen and respiratory therapy at home to more than 4,000 patients in Illinois and Indiana.

After their workout, each employee was asked to connect themselves to an oxygen concentrator to aid in restoring their breathing. There was one hitch, however. When the employee went to turn on the oxygen, they found that the equipment had been booby trapped. The employee had to make a desperate call to a DependiCare respiratory specialist to help them fix the concentrator and get the oxygen going.

"It was a scary feeling," said Diane Belsan, billing specialist, who did her voluntary trek around the warehouse and then had to diagnose a kink in her tubing before the oxygen concentrator would work. "If you are in a situation in which our oxygen is not working and you need it, you panic" she said.

In the second activity, employees used either a wheelchair or walker along with a portable oxygen tank and cannula (tubing from the tank to the nose) while performing their job. Although the oxygen couldn't be turned on (a physician's prescription is needed), employees experienced the strain of wearing extra apparatus while trying to do normal tasks.

"A respiratory care practitioner works with many sick people who become anxious when their equipment isn't working properly; it is easy to get numb to their pain," said Schragel. "This experience demonstrated that anyone can become ill-tempered if they are encumbered by this equipment and that we, as their health-care providers, need to show a high degree of compassion."

"I'm younger and stronger than most patients and it was still difficult for me," said Joanne Colella, a customer service representative who used a wheelchair and portable tank. "I certainly learned to understand more about a patient's feelings."

The majority of oxygen patients have chronic pulmonary conditions, such as emphysema, said Schragel. DependiCare's oxygen equipment rarely fails; its breakdown rate is less than two percent thanks to a strong maintenance program and strict performance standards. When breakdowns do occur, the patient has backup equipment.

However, the activities magnified the importance of respiratory therapists, technicians and customer service representatives for all the employees at the 12 year old firm. The Respiratory Olympics also served as a vehicle to highlight the skills needed by a respiratory caregiver.

The Respiratory Olympics, as well as raffles and other contests designed to raise employee appreciation of respiratory care, were organized by a nine member employee committee.

"We wanted employees to put themselves in patients' shoes to feel how frightening it is when things go wrong," said Jill Lazar, marketing manager. "No matter how much you talk about the patients' hardships, I think it takes role playing activities like this to really develop a strong empathy for what the patients go through."

Available services consist of a physician for diagnosis and treatment of medical problems and school and sports physical examinations. Blood pressure testing and health counseling by a registered nurse are also available. Township residents unable to pay for those services requiring a fee should contact their township supervisor at the numbers listed above.

The Mobile Health Service provides primary medical care to township residents at various sites throughout Lake County and refers individuals to private physicians for medical conditions requiring further treatment. For more information, call 473-2463 or the appropriate township office.

Good Shepherd, school sponsor wellness program

Good Shepherd Hospital, Barrington, and the Barrington Middle School PTO-Station Campus are co-sponsoring "Walking Off Weight," a free community wellness program with Rob Sweetgall, nationally known author, walker and speaker. The program will be held from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 3, at the Barrington High School Auditorium, 616 W. Main, Barrington.

If you've ever said, "I really need to get some exercise," this program is for you. Sweetgall will discuss how fitness walking impacts cardiovascular health, weight loss and stress reduction. You'll also learn strategies for getting motivated, personal cross-training programs, how to get the most from exercise in the minimum amount of time, and easy ways to raise metabolism and burn off winter fat.

Since 1982, Sweetgall, known as the Pied Piper of American Walking, has walked across the United States seven times covering 22,000 U.S. highways, stopping at schools to present motivational assemblies on walking, cardiovascular health and wellness. He is also recognized in the Guinness World Book of Records for his 1982-83 10,608-mile foot journey along the U.S. perimeter.

He has appeared on NBC Today, CBS

Morning News, Evening Magazine and numerous television and radio talk shows. He also is the author and co-author of eight books on walking and wellness.

In his former life, Sweetgall was an overweight Brooklyn boy, high school valedictorian and DuPont chemical engineer. Motivated largely by the death of his father (heart attack), Sweetgall gave up cheesecake and his 11-year career at DuPont to take his message on foot across America in 1982.

To register for this free community program or for more information, call Good Shepherd's HealthAdvisor at 1-800-323-8622.

Saint Xavier brings classrooms to work

Saint Xavier University is hosting two information sessions for nurses who are interested in graduate and undergraduate courses offered in the North Shore and Lake County areas. The free sessions will take place from 10 a.m. to noon and 4 to 7 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 8 at Condell Medical Center, 900 Garfield Ave. in Libertyville.

Sponsored by Saint Xavier's School of Nursing, the information session will provide nurses an opportunity to learn more about the hospital site RN Baccalaureate option and Graduate Nursing program courses. In addition, Saint Xavier University faculty and admissions counselors will be on hand to answer questions on class content, financial aid and admission procedures.

"This program is really a great opportunity for nurses to continue their education while having the convenience of classes at their work site," said Dr. Kay Thurn, director of RN Completion Programs for Saint Xavier. "By bringing the program to them, students find that they are better able to complete their educational goals, while still finding time to fulfill other responsibilities."

Some of the hospitals included in this North Shore program are Highland Park Hospital; Saint Therese Hospital and Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan; Midwest Regional Medical Center in Zion; Lake Forest Hospital; Evanston Hospital; Saint Francis Hospital in Evanston; and Condell Medical Center in Libertyville. The College of Lake County is another off-campus site for Saint Xavier University courses.

Benefits of taking courses at hospital site locations are twofold: Nurses are among their working peers and can support one another for class projects or study sessions; and there are a number of already established resources in the hospitals, including medical libraries and professional staff.

All classes are open to nurses from any area hospital and there is a 15 percent discount on tuition for students at each hospital site program. Interested nurses can register as a student at large for almost all of the available nursing courses.

"These information sessions are a wonderful opportunity for nurses to find out what Saint Xavier University has to offer in the North Shore and Lake County areas," Thurn added.

For more information or to make a reservation for either session, call Saint Xavier University at (312)298-3051.

Health Department endorses 3D Month

We are currently in the midst of 3D Month, which has nothing to do with putting on funny glasses to watch a movie. 3D stands for National Drunk and Drugged Driving (3D) Prevention Month.

"During this month we urge everyone to make a concerted effort to ensure a safe and healthy holiday season for all of us in Lake County by not driving impaired, by being a responsible party host, and by intervening when someone you know attempts to get behind the wheel after drinking or taking drugs," said Dale Galassie, executive director of the Lake County Health Department. Galassie pointed out that, last year, approximately 40,000 people were killed throughout the United States and, of those deaths, almost 16,000 involved alcohol or drugs.

"Taking a stand against drunk driving is simple, and there are a lot of ways to do it," said

Galassie. He offered these tips for a safe holiday season:

- Never serve alcoholic beverages to anyone younger than age 21;
- If you plan to drink, plan ahead and designate a non-drinking driver;
- Be a responsible party host—serve non-alcoholic beverages, control the amount of alcohol served (don't have an "open bar"), ask impaired guests to stay overnight or call a cab to take them home, and take away the keys of an impaired guest; and
- If you are out, report suspected impaired drivers to your state or local police. Be sure to get the license plate number and description of the vehicle.

Those interested in free information about the effects of alcohol and drugs on driving, call the InTouch/Prevention Services Program of the Health Department at 223-6363.

Lake County Health Dept. sets blood pressure testing

The Lake County Health Dept. offers blood pressure testing and education for lowering the risk for heart disease for adults at no charge to Lake County residents. Testing will be held at the following times and places. No appointment is necessary.

Round Lake Park, Avon Twp. office, 433 E. Washington, Jan. 2 from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Eagle Foods, 2040 Grand Ave., Lindenhurst, Jan. 4 from 9 to 11 a.m. Fox Lake State Bank, 55 E. Grand Ave., Fox Lake, Jan. 5 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Antioch Public Library, 757 Main St., Antioch, Jan. 10 from 2 to 4 p.m. Consumer's Co-Op Credit Union, 1210 S. Lake St., Mundelein, Jan. 12 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Eagle Foods, 400 W. Rollins Rd., Round Lake, Jan. 26 from 9 to 11 a.m.

Individuals will be counseled on ways to lower their risk for heart disease by controlling high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol and stopping smoking. Controlling these risk factors can greatly reduce the change of having a stroke or heart attack. Recommendations are given for medical follow-up and information is provided on other community resources for reducing the risk for heart disease.

For further information, contact the "Have a Heart Program," Lake County Health Dept., at 360-5917.

Griefnotes

How can I prevent difficulties from grief?

Many who confront grief for the first time are surprised at the intensity of their feelings. Grief is most often associated with the death of a loved one but it can also result from divorce, loss of bodily function, moving or from a child growing up and leaving home. Because grief is poorly understood, those who have not experienced it personally can be poor helpers. By learning about grief ahead of time we can more capably assist friends in their time of need and can more readily understand the intensity of feelings when death affects our families. Take time to read and inquire about grief and learn ways to assist those in need of support.
